

Province.
BARRITT'S
ENTS

day, Sunday and 5th and 16th.
April 17th.
April 18th.
April 24th.
Thursday, April

Troupe

LOWING

day, Friday, Sat-day and Tuesday,
April 17.
Friday, Thursday and Sunday and 20.
Friday, Sunday and 23.
Wednesday,
Thursday, April
24.

Province.

Entertainments

Special Salvation concert, Staff Captain Morris.
Special Holiness

April 21 and 22.—
Captain Sharp

Legionaire Scott, and Lieutenant

Special Meetings.

Legionaire Scott, Staff
Captain Morris.
Salvation Meeting.

Attention!

IN BASEMENT OF STREET, Meeting

BARRITT.

by Soldier and to attend some

Only!

volume of The
to the Trade

Feb. 21st, 1894.

second, and I am
I think it is and to make good ours truly,
W. BARRITT.

Y I

1893.

Only a small

CRY.

the Easter moment be-sold out.
the Trade were. We return stock will

WAR CRY

THE
AND OFFICIAL GAZETTE OF THE SALVATION ARMY IN CANADA AND NEWFOUNDLAND.

VOL. X. No. 29. [WILLIAM BOOTH, General of the S. A. Forces throughout the world.] TORONTO, APRIL 21, 1894. [HERBERT H. BOOTH, Commandant for Canada and Newfoundland.] PRICE 5 CENTS.

TO THE RESCUE.

"The love of Christ doth me constrain
To seek the wandering souls of men;
With cries, entreaties, tears to save
And snatch them from a yawning grave."

WANTED!

Candidates and Captains of War.

A PERISHING WORLD CRIES FOR HELP.

Will You Volunteer?

BY STAFF-CAPTAIN JOSEPH BIRKENSHAW, PRINCIPAL OF THE MEN
TRAINING HOME, MELBOURNE, AUSTRALIA.

As years go by I am more and more convinced that the difference in man does not lie so much in their ability to do right, as in their

(Continued on page 4.)

The Marechale's Tour

IN THE
SOUTH OF FRANCE.

(Continued.)

Mamant, a pretty little town, picturesquely situated on a mountain slope, was our next destination.

"Never in all my life have I had the privilege to assist such meetings as these," said our brave comrade, Sergeant H— speaking to us of the mighty and powerful series which the Marechale had just held.

And this was certainly the opinion of everybody, not only of our soldiers, which thronged our beautiful hall night after night. The rich,

The Unbelieving, the Indifferent,

Catholics and Protestants alike had come to hear her; some of them, too, with the earnest desire to find the truth, and which have not been disappointed.

Oh, that your readers could have witnessed these never-to-be-forgotten scenes for many a heart; the crowds assembled reduced to silence before the vibrating truths which the Marechale uttered in her Holy Ghost power; the conviction depicted on almost every countenance; the tears which flowed; the influence of the Holy Spirit, which literally invaded the audience.

The last evening of Marechale's stay was, by a happy suggestion, devoted to a family meeting. Of course, this drew a large concourse of people, who were delighted at this prospect. It had been announced that she would speak on the principles and the aim of the Salvation Army, as also of the good that is being done by its means. The people listened most attentively, and seemed much impressed by all they heard. Certainly, was done away with that night, and many new friends were made. Five persons, among whom two backsliders came home.

Mark Prejudice

Next day, most inspiring meeting in

Nimes,

where a large crowd had assembled to bid La Marechale welcome. In spite of her great fatigue, and with the influenza upon her, she held her audience for more than an hour.

Spell-Bound.

But we must not linger to describe the scene that followed; surely God's Spirit was at work, and only eternity will reveal all that was done that night. At a most distinguished audience, of whom the greater part were students. Certainly they, too, were enthusiastic, but this became rather embarrassing, as their frequent exclamations and applaudments interrupted the Marechale continually. At last she was obliged to leave, however not before she had sent some piercing arrows of God's truth home to their hearts.

Montpellier

While waiting for the train at the station, two gentlemen came up to speak to her, expressing their regret at her being disturbed by the students. As they showed great interest in the work the Salvation Army is doing in France and elsewhere, the Marechale consented to explain to them the principles and aim. Soon a crowd began to gather around, including so the waiting-room was transformed into a meeting, and a collection also was made in favor of the work, to which everybody readily contributed.

Porters and Officials,

Nimes.

Commissioner Booth-Clibborn arrives for a five days' campaign and officers' council. About eighty officers present. Marvellous time of heart-searching and baptism of the Holy Ghost. Apostolic life was the note in every meeting, and by means of the burning words uttered by our beloved Commissioner, and still more through their own beautiful example, we were able to see in clearer light and fuller meaning our vocation—to be an apostle of Jesus Christ.

St. Hippolyte and Le Vigan are the next points that are visited. At this latter place, the theatre had been secured. Splendid audience; marvellous time. In spite of the attempts of several young men to disturb, Marechale held the public for over an hour. Much sympathy was manifested. Several members of the Auxiliary League were made, among whom the proprietor of the theatre. But we must go on to La Salle.

A small place of about 500 inhabitants, who were looking forward with great eagerness to the Marechale's first visit to their town. Most powerful meeting in large barnyard, but for less than their skillings, which was crowded to its utmost capacity. After the evening meeting, the Marechale acceded to the request of two gentlemen of the aristocracy, to adjourn for refreshments. Several ladies were assembled. The Marechale explained to them the principles and aims of our work, and made also an appeal on its behalf, which was readily responded to. We were touched by their kindness, the more so, as such true kindness is among the French with regard to the Salvation Army.

To Their Drawing-Room

St. Jean de Gard

is impatient to receive us with open arms. The two Sunday meetings were well attended. Souls rivet, young girls shed tears over their wasted lives, and five become Auxiliaries of our Ligue. But, alas! what a sight, that theatre holding some 1,500 people, filled from end to end, and in spite of its being open to the night winds all one side, making it dangerous to speak, the Marechale held that spell-bound; that block of men-infidels, so lost to all religious influences, still lives before our eyes, and we understand the Marechale's deep regrets at having to leave this town, where the crowds flock from far and near, and where such a magnificent opportunity is offered for saving; but with thirty officers, are waiting eagerly for encouragement and council with their Marechale.

Vast Audience

Valence,

The daily paper, in giving an account of this remarkable meeting, begins:

"The audience was very elegant; in the reserved seats we find all the notabilities in law, finance, and administration that Valence possesses. One would believe one's self in a theatre. The Army has gained ground in our town." etc.

The meeting was

A Splendid Success

in spite of the dense crowd and overpowering heat, which caused one woman to fall down faint. Major Jeannoton promptly carried her out in his arms and saved our meeting.

At the close, a woman-anarchist, who has been imprisoned for eight months, sobbed aloud for mercy, and her sister, a converted sinner, knelt by her side to help her.

After a most pleasant concert with Commissioner and Marechale with these heroic officers, we pass on to Lyon.

Alas, the hall is far too small to the hundreds of people who press for admittance! A crowding time follows. The Marechale was divinely sustained, and the audience never stirred, then the Commissioner followed, singing his last composed song, which riveted his hearers, not only on account of the and singing, but the words appealing so pathetically to the prodigal son to come. Two young men arose, and before that assembly knelt down. One woman, then followed three more young men. One cried aloud for mercy, and the laughing lady-scorpion by his side could not hinder these earnest seekers finding Jesus, the Saviour.

Exquisite Musical Accompaniment

Oh, what a chance we have in the dark, sin-blighted town of Lyons! Oh, the scenes of sorrow, suffering, and shame we hear! We must go forward to the rescue.

GUERLAIN.

"SOWING THE SEED."

One of Moody's Converts Scatters the Word.

At Washington, D.C., one day recently, every United States senator of religious faith, a small little package of religious tracts enclosed by a rubber band, and bearing on its face, the words, "Compliments of J. S. C. Blackburn." This was the popular Kentucky Senator's device for announcing to his associates that he had abandoned for ever his old life, and entered upon a new and wiser existence, as the result of the convicting power of Evangelist Moody, who has been holding revival meetings in Washington for a month.—New York Sun.

Definiteness and Determination.

Good Qualities for Christian Soldiers.

After referring to the proportionately large number of patients at Salvation Army meetings in Great Britain, the New York Witness (evangelical) says:—

"Can any other religious organization show a like result in proportion to its numbers? We don't know of any, and doubt not that this is a unique experience. What are the causes of so remarkable a result to the labors of this peculiar people? Among others, probably, a simple issue and a determined purpose are the two most potent. The simple issue is, that the man who accepts Jesus is saved now, and the man who does not accept Jesus is damned now. No need of waiting for the salvation or for the damnation, and nothing problematical about either. The determined purpose is to induce men to and to pass from death unto life. No energy wasted in theological disputes or hair-splitting theories. Now, people with so strong a conviction on so simple an issue, undiluted with any 'ifs and buts,' are sure to make an impression. They lose no strength in discussing side issues. It is with them a matter of life and death with no margin for chances.

Accept Christ at Once,

"Would not a physician ignore the tooth-ache or the headache, and count all such ailments as trifles not worth immediate attention, if through a gaping wound the patient's blood was rapidly escaping? Would he not concentrate all his skill and energy in a supreme effort to staunch the flow of

The Crimson Tide

of life? So these practical Christians ignore forms and ceremonies, while engaged in a supreme effort to save life. Are they not right? There may be different opinions as to the peculiar methods of these Christian soldiers—their music, their parades, their gestures may not commend themselves to more conservative minds—but how can we quarrel with any instrumentality which achieves such success in bringing sinners to

The Foot of the Cross?

Did not Paul say, 'I am made all things to all men that I might by all means save some?' We must remember also the words of the Master, 'By their fruits ye shall know them.' Surely if the test is 'fruit,' then the Salvation Army will stand the test. Brethren, are we employing any means? Let criticism be dumb, and active, aggressive work characterize our lives. 'The fields are white ready to harvest'; 'the night cometh when no man can work'; and yet the professed servants of Christ are usually more ready to criticize other people's methods than to go to work themselves."

WANTED: Reality in the Open-Air.

While holding our open-air meeting before one of the hotels in the town of Cornwall some time ago, there were two young men going by. The one was a professed infidel, who would not listen to any of our meetings before, but as he passed he asked his companion to stop with him.

After listening for some time to the testimonies given and the choruses sang by the comrades he turned away and said to his companion,

"They will do, I am convinced."

"They are right, I am wrong."

Dear comrades, let us be more than ever faithful in our open-air work; we do not know what the result may be; eternally alone will reveal that.

The world is looking to us to-day as Salvationists for something to help them on their way to heaven. They may treat us coolly, and even with scorn, but if we are true soldiers of the Cross they will and do have confidence in us.

May the Lord make us real!

The World Wants Reality.

God wants reality. The Salvation Army wants real, loyal, brave and true soldiers of Jesus.

Just a word to the unbeliever, and the skeptic, and the scoffers, and the Christ-rejector.

Remember, God is not mocked; that which ye sow ye shall also reap; if ye sow to the flesh ye shall of the flesh reap corruption; but if ye sow to the Spirit ye shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting.

And again, God has said in His Word, 'Because I have called and you refused, I have stretched out My hand no man regarded, but ye have set at naught all My counsel and would none of My reproach, I also will laugh at your calamity, I will mock when ye fear, I will be as an enemy to you.'

May the Lord help you to listen to His voice and be convinced, and not stop there but be converted also, without which no man can enter the kingdom of heaven.

God bless you with salvation!

SEYMOUR SACRED,
Chesterville, Ont.

Officers' Council

LED BY THE COMMANDANT
At Lippincott Street.

They have a cosy room at Lippincott in which, on Friday, just previous to starting for the West, the Commandant met a number of the Toronto officers, for a meeting and afternoon session, winding up with the usual "Friday Night." A quiet and rather stiff appearance was presented at first, but the opening outburst of holy song showed there was fiery enthusiasm under the calm exterior.

Speaking of having an abundant entrance to heaven, the Commandant said doubtless we should all be surprised at the number of big lights who would come to our welcome home. Possibly Father Abraham would doff his hat to us—but (significantly) if you want Abraham to receive you there, you must be such characters as he would not be ashamed to associate with here.

As usual the Commandant said some excellent and thoughtful things.

"We officers of the Salvation Army, in a special sense, cities set on a hill, which cannot be hid. Hence our influence, either for good or evil, is far greater than if we were in the ordinary walks of life. A false prophet has always been the greatest catastrophe to a people. Illustrated by the evil of a negligent railway signalman. In the Old Land the law recognizes the extra importance of the signalman's position in much that it makes his neglect of duty a crime equal to manslaughter. What measure of crime is a negligent spiritual signalman or watchman guilty of?"

Then followed an enumeration of some of the principal traits in the character of the Man, Christ Jesus, Who is the model for us all.

Major Read was called on for a few words. He said it was his first ambition to be of spiritual benefit to people. He was right with God, and that was necessary, since others will become what they find we are. He heard the voice of God in the order for this new appointment, and rejoiced that he had seen of the Holy Ghost and the Army enough to go anywhere. The Major's concluding words of exhortation were, "Let us be what we expect others to be."

Mrs. Major Read praised God that he had kept her holding on. She had confidence in the Salvation Army. Some time ago, when compelled to rest from the heat of the fight, she had proved more certain than ever that her heart was in the Salvation Army.

There is no doubt but that Mrs. Read heartily agreed with and is a partner in her husband's whole-hearted consecration to the cause of Christ, as prosecuted under the particular methods of the Salvation Army.

A few words more from the Commandant, in which he remarked that, "the apostles were the consistent slaves of fidelity and principle," and a prayer meeting brought the inspiring little council to a close.

THE COMMANDANT GOING WEST.

A Loving Send-Off.

The Commandant and Brigadier Hollett left Toronto for the West by the 10:15 train, on Friday night. They were escorted to the Union Depot by a splendid band of troops, headed by a brass band. Every body seemed pleased except an individual who hurriedly came through the doors of an hotel and caught at the reins of a couple of horses, who apparently were tickled with the music.

Standing on the cars and facing the platform, jammed with the soldiers, the Commandant gave a parting address, exhorting all to more out-and-out service for God and humanity. Then the Commandant waved his red cap, Brigadier Hollett smiled, Adjutant and Mrs. Archibald, bound for Victoria, B.C., stretched out their hands through the car window for a last comradely grip, and the big express glided out from the white glare of the electric lamps into the night.

From every pair of lungs a shout arose, and the ringing blasts of the brass instruments fully concluded this happy send-off. May the Lord bless our beloved leader, bringing him back in health and strength.

Council

at Lippincott's
at the number
of our volume
Abraham will
significantly if
you there, for
he would not be
here.

abundant entrance
and devotion
at the number
of our volume
Abraham will
significantly if
you there, for
he would not be
here.

abundant entrance
and devotion
at the number
of our volume
Abraham will
significantly if
you there, for
he would not be
here.

abundant entrance
and devotion
at the number
of our volume
Abraham will
significantly if
you there, for
he would not be
here.

abundant entrance
and devotion
at the number
of our volume
Abraham will
significantly if
you there, for
he would not be
here.

abundant entrance
and devotion
at the number
of our volume
Abraham will
significantly if
you there, for
he would not be
here.

abundant entrance
and devotion
at the number
of our volume
Abraham will
significantly if
you there, for
he would not be
here.

abundant entrance
and devotion
at the number
of our volume
Abraham will
significantly if
you there, for
he would not be
here.

abundant entrance
and devotion
at the number
of our volume
Abraham will
significantly if
you there, for
he would not be
here.

abundant entrance
and devotion
at the number
of our volume
Abraham will
significantly if
you there, for
he would not be
here.

abundant entrance
and devotion
at the number
of our volume
Abraham will
significantly if
you there, for
he would not be
here.

abundant entrance
and devotion
at the number
of our volume
Abraham will
significantly if
you there, for
he would not be
here.

abundant entrance
and devotion
at the number
of our volume
Abraham will
significantly if
you there, for
he would not be
here.

abundant entrance
and devotion
at the number
of our volume
Abraham will
significantly if
you there, for
he would not be
here.

abundant entrance
and devotion
at the number
of our volume
Abraham will
significantly if
you there, for
he would not be
here.

FRIDAY NIGHT

The Elm Street Young Women's Christian Association Hall was full of holy song as we entered on Friday night.

These FRIDAY NIGHT gatherings are like a weekly family reunion—there is a boundless flow of human sympathy as well as Divine influence. A host of the kindly-inflicting, holy choruses which ring out during the course of a FRIDAY NIGHT would surprise the ordinary meeting-goer outside Salvation Army circles. Here are some that came in between prayers on the last FRIDAY NIGHT:

"I need thee, oh, I need thee,
Every hour I need thee,
Oh, when my soul, my Savior,
I come to thee."

"Yes, loving Lord,
I'm coming to thee."

"My Jesus, I love Thee,
I know Thee art mine,
For Thou art the Father of sin
I trust; oh, yes."

"His blood can make the vilest clean,
His blood avails for me."

"While before Thee I am kneeling,
(Tune—While the Ancestry, heavenly music.)
Oh, hear my cry,
For Thou knowest I am willing
For Thee to live or die."

Mother Florence prayed the Lord to bless, care for, and go with the Commandant on his tour westward.

Adjutant McMillan's voice was also heard in holy intercession, followed by Knight Phillips.

The Commandant gave another thoughtful and interesting discourse on the FRIDAY NIGHT topic, viz.: "Real Religion."

Truths that lie hidden below the surface of things were exhibited clearly. Real religion has to do with the heart; it gives a clean heart, from which, of necessity, proceeds a clean life.

The fruit of real religion is love. Love is a supreme thing. Its power is greater than victory or earthquake. For the love of God, what will a man not do? Love makes sacrifice a pleasure, whether in the spiritual or natural sphere. And yet we never see love; we use its effects. Love is the most automatic thing in the world. Man who loves himself, will go the length of dying for himself. In fact, many men in this Dominion are in process of slowly dying for self. So when a man loves in a similar fashion his brother, he will die for him; and when he loves his God, he will die for his God; and when he loves his cause, he will die for his cause; and thus it is that the whole law is embodied in LOVE. Hence we sing:

"Let me love Thee, Savior."

The whole question of a man's labor for God, is his love. Labor will not make love, but love produces labor. He who loves much, will work much. Ask: "Do I love God?" not in a sentimental, dreamy way, but in that tangible, graspable way, which makes labor and suffering for Him a joy.

In too many instances the self-sacrifice of Christians is not to be compared to the self-sacrifice of the idolaters, who worship in this day the god of gold. Their offerings before its shrine, put to shame those of many Christians, and they offer these because gold is the greatest thing in their horizon. One of the saddest facts in contemplating the eternal ruin of souls, is that at last they will find they have been deluded. Not only will they be lost because they sinned, but because they have been duped. They will have sacrificed their all, for what will turn out to be only a myth.

Jesus Christ, the true and Eternal Reality, comes to us each to-night. He seeks to draw hearts to Himself. He is not looking for other things. He wants your heart. "Give Me this heart," He says, "and I will give thee a kingdom."

No mere round of doings, no human tinkering, can either bring back your lost love for Him, or be a substitute in the place of it. Neither can we love by proxy. Love is generated by spirit leading spirit. Even as the two points of carbon when charged with electricity produce the light, and the match striking the box, produces fire. We want not the words, but the realizations. If you come to Jesus in sincerity to-night, you shall experience the realization.

Oh, what a marvel that such a poor, insignificant creature can have brushed into him the wonderful spirit of love; that we are so constructed as to receive and give out that which is so much greater than ourselves. Look at that locomotive standing in the Union Depot; it is the embodiment of the thought of which generations of men, and the marvel about it is that it has the capacity to receive into and give out of itself a greater force than itself. So may the soul looking upward and outward receive to itself God's Holy Spirit of love and then bear in good deeds and kind words that blessed gift to the poor dying, starving world.

Mrs. Booth rose next to sing and speak. The meeting always assumes an animated appearance when Mrs. Booth is at the helm. Mrs. Booth administered most incisive truths, that go right home to the heart of her audience, or they have recovered from the laughter provoked by some humorous story.

On this occasion the ingenuities amongst the saints must have been out on the loose; it was a bad time for those who have for this world "nothing but a grove and a right." We are to learn to praise the Lord where we are, not imagining our particular circumstances prevent us doing so. Even though hands and afflictions await us we could still find grace like Paul to sing in the prison.

Adjutant Archibald, who, with Mrs. Archibald, headed the Commandant out West, also said a few farewell words.

Limelight at Kingston.

BRIGADIER BOOBY.

"I think I can safely announce Adjutant Mantion as the 'Salvation Toronto,'" said Knight McMillan, as he told the people about the expected visit of the above worthy, and the Limelight views.

Thursday night, March 2nd, Adjutant Mantion was with us, and as was Captain Dodge. Adjutant said he was tired, but did not give evidence of being so in the meeting. There were other in promotion, new choruses to learn, etc., etc. The Adjutant sang to his heart's content, then shouted and jumped till everyone felt free.

Captain Dodge sang an original verse of a song, and delivered an extremely original discourse. Altogether, the meeting was a real profitable time.

Friday night was announced as the night of the Limelight service.

There was a good crowd in the hall before the march had gone out, and by the time the lights were turned down, it was mostly filled. A few of the women came were ready to take advantage of the darkness, but Adjutant soon obtained order, and the service began.

It was indeed impressive. The words of fire standing out in the darkness, and the strains of the hymns, blended with the voice of the people, could not help but impress those present.

It would take too long to follow the Adjutant in his trip to London, Scotland, and his different Army institutions to help and uplift the fallen, thence out to the many homes on the Hadleigh Farm Colony. Back again to Canada, with his Homes, Shelters, and Refugees, for men, women, and children, giving us a glimpse at the House of Rest, on George Street, Toronto, and listening to the music that seemed to steal softly through the partly open window, and float towards the hearth. Then came the faces of our dear leaders, and their Staff of Provincial Secretaries, who seemed to smile at us from the screen.

We close at Kingston, by bidding good night to Brigadier and Mrs. Booth, and then the words of the doxology stood out on the screen.

Adjutant Mantion made a good expounder, and talked from the time the first picture was thrown on the canvas, until the benediction was pronounced. Captain Dodge had the big lantern in good shape, and did his part well. The service was profitable and enjoyable.

W. BROWN.

LADY ABERDEEN.

Her Excellency Deprecates Customs of Undue and Unnecessary Mourning.

Visiting Quebec in connection with the National Council of Women, Lady Aberdeen expressed her pleasure at meeting so many of the elite of Quebec on such an occasion, pointed out the good objects of the association and the great benefits which might be expected to flow from it, and exhorted the ladies of Quebec to co-operate heartily in so noble a cause.

Her Excellency's references to her recent bereavement in the death of her father were quite feeling. She took this opportunity of expressing her gratitude to the women of Canada for the kindly sympathy shown her, and said she was sure there was no risk of her attendance being misunderstood, for it was chiefly the knowledge of the sympathy extended her that enabled her to appear at meetings of this character. Her Excellency stated that though she deprecated customs of undue and unnecessary mourning, there was, perhaps, sometimes a tendency to dispense with the advantages derivable from seasons of privacy and quiet when used aright. THE PRESENT PORTFOLIO OF HER DEAR MOTHER IN HER RECENT BEREAVEMENT WAS THE RESULT OF A LIFE OF SELF-SACRIFICE AND SELF-CONTROL, WHICH WAS HER CHIEF CHARACTERISTIC, AND A CONFIDENCE. Her Excellency expressed the hope of having her mother come out to Canada so that all her own friends here might learn to know and to appreciate her.

A Canadian in London.

HACKNEY, LONDON.

Only to-day I received a copy of the CANADIAN WAR CRY, of December 16th, 1893. I am much obliged to you for so kindly inserting my letter from Scotland. If my dear comrades in Scotland and Newfoundland only knew how I long for a look at the CANADIAN WAR CRY, I am sure they would send me one often.

Well, here I am in the greatest city in the world—the great emporium of the universe; and what is better still, the great emporium of the Salvation Army, which is now spreading all over the world its mighty soul-saving work.

There are many grand and beautiful things to be seen in London. Magnificent architecture, exquisite sculpture; buildings hundreds of years old, full of historic interest, etc., etc.; but to me and my friend, the P.C.A.W., Mrs. L. A. Beer, from California, who are both Salvationists to the backbone, nothing is so marvellously interesting as the magnificent works of the Salvation Army. And we are led to exclaim, as we see the results, with grateful hearts: "What hath God wrought!"

We visited the "Bridge"—the ex-prisoner's Home—at King's Cross. It was my privilege to interest myself while in Scotland, about a young man, who was then in Wandsworth jail. He is now in the Home, happy and contented; best of all, saved, and determined to live for God. He prayed aloud with us before we left. The "Bridge" is a hive of industry. The men and boys are happy and contented. Many are saved, and the law of Christ, the law of love prevails everywhere.

The great Food Depot, Whitechapel Road, is full of interest. We saw the dear old souls, and the poor, hungry men and women enjoying their soup in the middle of the day. They were too busy to look up. But I must be brief.

From there we went to the Women's Shelter, in Hanbury Street (where all these fearful murders took place). This Shelter keeps spoken clean, and numbers of poor women and children (some of them Jewish) are nightly sheltered here, and sleep on clean, comfortable beds.

Then we crossed the street to the "Elevator"—a wonderful establishment—where a crowd of men are employed day after day, sorting paper, making bags, seats for barracks, cabinet making, painting, varnishing furniture. We saw some beautiful carving done here by one of the men, and even an artist is at work here. Lots of talent is to be found here; indeed, a person remarked to me: "If you want to find talent, go to the Shelter, and you will find it."

Then we went to the Lighthouse (such an appropriate name), the Home of the Elevator man. We had a most interesting visit here. We took a cup of tea with the very genial manager, Captain Hemmings and his wife. Just beautiful people to carry on this work.

Then we watched the men coming in from their work at the "Elevator," with their pence, or an equivalent, in their hands and ordering their cup of tea. (Oh, such good tea! Not like that you get at a tea-meeting, made in a wash-boiler; but a decent cup of tea and thick slices of bread and meat, or butter, and jelly and marmalade, which ever they choose. Quietly and orderly they all take their place at the tables; grace is sung in a very hearty manner; the attack is made; and after enjoying a good meal they retire to the bath rooms, where hot and cold water is provided for them, and after tidying themselves up a bit, a converts' meeting is held (for numbers do get converted at the Lighthouse), and then all assemble in the hall for a great salvation meeting.

We had the privilege of taking part in the meeting, and one young man came out and gave his heart to God.

Many of these men have once been respectable, and filled good positions in society, but have fallen through drink and misfortune. Thank God, the Salvation Army has come to their rescue, and is giving them a helping hand.

I could give you many incidents and life histories related by the Captain, but I remember you have a W. P. B.

We have also seen the "Ark"—a beautifully conducted home for the men; also the "Anchor," at Bethnal Green. The penny shelters for men at Blackfriars is a very remarkable place, for between 700 and 800 men are nightly sheltered here. For the small sum of one penny a poor fellow can get something to eat and a night's shelter, and if any have to leave the shelter early in the morning to go to work, as early as 5 a.m., officers are ready to provide them with a cup of coffee and something to eat.

The sleeping and cleansing arrangements are perfect in all the shelters, and would put many a private house to shame which may have a very grand exterior.

Some of the poor fellows say when they come in at the close of the day, "I am glad to get home again."

There are splendid corps at Holloway, Camberwell, Kennington Lane and Stoke Newington. At nearly all these corps we have taken part in the meetings. We led a meeting in one of the Rescue Homes, where five girls came to the penitential form to seek Christ. Sad, and histories are told here.

Very blessed meetings were held in the Grosvenor theatre all day yesterday, led by Colonel McKie, who has lost none of the fire he had when in Canada. Over twenty persons came out at the holiness meeting to get sanctified. Indeed while the Colonel was reading the lesson in Ephesians 1st, about the exceeding power of God to upward one young man voluntarily arose and came out the penitential form and got saved.

We hope soon to see Hadleigh Farm. I expect I shall have some wonderful things to tell you about that noted place further on.

I am praying and believing that the day is not far distant when the doors of St. Paul's Cathedral and Westminster Abbey will be thrown open to the Salvation Army, and the walls of those magnificent and ancient buildings shall resound with—

"He's the Lily of the Valley, the bright and Morning Star."

He's the flower of ten thousand to my soul."

and there shall be great shouts of praise and waving of handkerchiefs and clapping of hands, from souls saved through the precious blood and filled with Holy Ghost fire. God grant that it may be so!

"Nothing is too hard for Thee." "All things are possible with God;" and all things are possible to him that believeth. Hallelujah! Yours believing,

MARY E. ELLIS.

"The Spirit occupies to us the same relation as Christ did to His disciples, or as He would do to us if He were on earth now. It is His representative, dwelling in the midst of the Church. It is our atmosphere, and the church is a great pair of lungs. We are in cells in these lungs, and if none of us are clogged up with worldliness, the lungs are able with each breath to inhale to the full the pure atmosphere of the Spirit."—Rev. Dr. JORDON.

CLIMBENEAU once tried many times to force a man to fight him, but without success. Finally, seeing his enemy drinking his coffee after dinner, in the Cafe de la Paix, he walked up to him and stirred up the coffee with the ferule of his walking stick. The man, quite ignoring Clemenceau, called out, "Waiter, bring me another cup of coffee, this one is dirty." The laugh turned on the aggressor, and there was no deal that time.—Selected.

What About the NEW SUIT

You wanted to get this Spring? Now is your time. Send for samples and Self-Measurement Forms to the Trade Secretary.

To the Rescue.

(Continued from page 1.)

will. The difference between the great and the insignificant, the feeble and the powerful in, that the one possesses an invincible determination, while the other lacks this quality. "A purpose once fixed, then Death or Victory," is a good battle-cry for Salvationists.

Another thing that has impressed me very forcibly is, that in order to live a successful life our whole energies must be given up to make ourselves efficient in what we conceive to be the most important object of life. Our is so short, that even, if it is stretched out to the allotted three score years and ten, it will soon be gone; therefore, let us, as Salvationists, wake up, and only go in to spend and be spent in the noble work of rescuing souls.

Probation

Salvationist! The very word avows of victory, of courage, grip, and fighting qualities, of contempt of danger and devotion, even to the death, to our God and the great cause of Salvationism. May God help us to be true to this spirit and to all that the name Salvationist implies, and to carry out in one's every day life the same blessed compassionate spirit of Jesus Christ. Let us look at the world, not through our own feeble eyes, but through the eyes of the Man of Sorrows and with the sympathy of Christ as He climbed Golgotha's hill, and stretch out our hands and feel the iron nails tear their way through our flesh and, as His side was opened and the blood trickled down the slopes of Calvary, let us imagine ourselves, as far as in us lies, given over to the power of darkness, formalism of God! alone! with the fiendish laughter and crushing of the lost in hell. The saints and those who died at their post for God, had divine assistance, but not so with Jesus. "He trod the wine press alone; He was made sin—sin in all its black Hiddenness.

He saw, as no other ever saw, the exceeding unfitness of sin. He beheld the human race struggling in vain with the wisdom and craftiness and power of the devil, and, seeing it, He laid His crown aside and came and met the prince of darkness on his own ground, and defeated him. Could we only enter into the vastness of our Responsibilities,

we might be better able to fight His battles and uphold His cause.

And, after all, it only needs concentration. We are transformed by beholding; and, if we concentrate all our faculties on Christ, we must, as a natural consequence, get like Him in our anxiety to our fellows. Nothing will daunt us; but the same as some dear fellows on the south coast of England, who, on hearing the alarm that a vessel was wrecked a little way from the coast, launched the lifeboat, and were soon on the scene. The day had far advanced before the brave crew, with their boat, reached the wreck, and, as the darkness of night came on, and the noble men had not returned, fires were kindled in order to guide them to the shore. After a while the suspense was relieved by the appearance of the lifeboat coming back, sometimes mounted on the crest of a mountain wave, and then lost in the trough of the sea; but as they neared the shore, a man named John Holden, stepped into the edge of the water, and cried out, "Hi, hi! I have you saved the men!" Above the howling wind, and the roaring of the breakers, came back the welcome shout, "Hi, hi, we have saved the men!" However, when the was reached, it was found that one poor fellow had been left clinging to the wreck. "Why did you not save him?" said Holden.

Rescue

Lifeboat

"We were so exhausted, that we thought it better to get safely to land with those we had, or else, in all probability we should all have perished," replied the captain.

"But you will return for the other poor soul?" eagerly spoke Holden.

"No," said they, "the storm is too fierce, and we are too exhausted to make an attempt."

Holden was so overcome, that he threw himself down on the pebbly beach, and lifted up a prayer to God that He might put it into the hearts of those present to rescue this one man.

Six men, seeing his earnestness, volunteered to accompany him, and were just about launching the lifeboat, when the aged Mother

of Holden rushed down the beach, threw her arms round his neck, and pleaded with him to stay.

"You must not go! What shall I do if you perish? Your father was drowned at sea, and it is two years since your brother Will left, and he has never been heard of; perhaps he too has perished; and now, you, my only hope—my joy and stay; you, too, would leave me in loneliness!"

Holden answered: "Mother, God has put it in my heart to go, and if I perish, He will take care of you."

And he, with his brave fellows, defied the fury of the gale, to save this one poor soul. Holden could put himself in the poor mariner's place; he could see the seething, smoking mass as they swung themselves up against the battered wreck, and could fully enter into the reality and sentences of his position. The rescue was safely carried out, and when they returned, the cry was once more raised:—"He who saved the men!"

"We have saved the men," shouted Holden, "and tell mother it is my brother Will."

And now, Salvationist, look at the millions around you who are in a worse position than this man on the wreck. Therefore, haste to the rescue, even though you should perish in the attempt; at all costs do your duty to these millions who are without God. It may cost away your eyes, but never mind; like Paul, count not your lives dear unto yourselves, so that you may win them, and delight the heart of the Man of Sorrows.

Don't stop to consider whether it will pay or no; if you are in earnest, live and work, and let God take care of the paying part, and if, as we often say, people are willing to sacrifice so much to save men's bodies, ought we not to be more practical in our endeavor to save immortal souls? If we were only half as concerned over the immortal, as other folks are over the mortal, we should do a greater work.

What are we going to do? Merely save ourselves, or set to work for the salvation of others? Multitudes of drunkards and baclets have been washed in the Blood of Jesus, multitudes upon multitudes are unwashed yet, and are harder to reach to-day than ever they were before; and many go down to the pit within hearing of the blessed Gospel. They cry, "Where is the sign of His coming?" For, "Where is the sign of His coming?" since He went away all things remain as of yore, and it needs whole-hearted men and women who can say, "Look upon us, He dwells in us."

So they look and they see a reflection of the character of Jesus Christ, and they will either believe to their own salvation, or get to hate you with a perfect hatred, and if they dare, would trust you so Stephen was treated ages back.

What are you doing? Perhaps nothing, or else engaged in selfish scheming about your own future prospects; laughing with your own God as to how much Him, money, and every you can spare Him and His work.

Day by day your brothers drop into the Lake of Fire, from whence the stinks of their torments shall ascend up for ever and ever. God wants you to toil and work, and, if necessary, sacrifice your life in securing the salvation of your fellows. Unselfishness is so uncommon that anyone a little less selfish than his comrades, stands out as a remarkable exception. But we must follow in the foot-prints of our Saviour! Oh, how un fréquent in the track of Calvary! Blood-marks are there—the marks of His poor, weary feet, that trod the path of sorrow and grief for our ungrateful hearts. The thorns in this track are so sharp, the way so dark and lonely, but Jesus went that way. How often do we sing,

"Jesus, let me tread the path that leads to Thee."

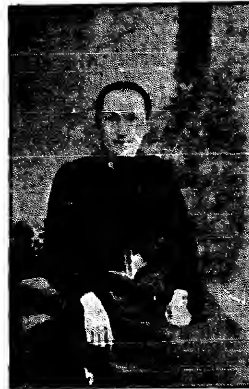

And what is the good of saying or singing, unless selfishness is lost in love? This miserable self-seeking, how it is withering and blighting the lives of men and women who have ability and strength! But they are robbing God. I would therefore sound out a note of warning to all such. A day of reckoning is coming. You may think all is well, and lay the flattering unction to your soul that God only requires a half-hearted service. Though the Judgment wheels of God grind slowly, yet they grind exceeding sure. By-and-bye the earth will reel, and be split asunder with eternal burnings, and your character will stand out in letters of living fire before an assembled universe; therefore cast aside all excuses, and do your duty as a soldier of Jehovah. Follow in the wake of those who have gone up out of great tribulation, and have washed their robes and made them white in the blood of the Lamb.

"They met the tyrant's brand of steel,
The lion's roar made;
They bowed their necks the death to foil;
Who follows in their train?"

Will you live like Jesus Christ? The world needs sympathy and love which only Jesus can give, and you, with Christ living in you, can be the channel that can convey His power into their poor hearts. No one else can do your work, therefore if you don't do it your life will be a blank.

Remember, that all protestation that ends in mere talk is cant, and cant stinks in the nostrils of the Almighty. Perhaps there is nothing for you if you fight for God but hunger, peril, and death, but remember, that God will see to it that you will receive your crown, and Jesus will clasp you to His heart when you reach the glory land.

My Conversion.

MRS. ELIZABETH BAIN, AUXILIARY 227, COLLOIDEN, N. S.

SEND you a short sketch of my life. I was born in 1865, the year of the birth of the Salvation Army.

God touched my heart with the finger of His love at a very early age, while sitting beneath the sound of the Gospel preached by Rev. Peter Morrison, a Presbyterian minister, then stationed at Bridgewater. I kept the experience all to myself, as there seemed no chance for me to do otherwise.

A few years later they came to Digby, and people said they did not know what they were coming for, but if it was for many they would not get much out of Digby! I was a great many foolish stories, which I was ready to believe, before seeing nature to myself.

My husband bought a War Cry on my at Digby and brought it home to read. He so aroused me, I was not long in having the satisfaction of seeing it in flames.

About two years ago, a band of Salvationists came over here from Digby to hold a meeting in our school-house. They carried a great drum, or brought it in a drum, and I remember saying, "What is the use of him, that great thing full of emptiness; it was a good big heart full of something and it would answer our purposes better." But Captain Alward called it their organ, and made it roar at the top of its voice. The singing went on quite lively, and as we were ending with, "And with Jesus we'll begin all the day," were sung, I began to think I was not as happy as I might be, or, at least, not so happy as those people seemed to be.

It must have been the cause of this visit; the deceitfulness of riches had crept in, and had really reduced my heart to a leaden state. Before the meeting was closed, in Captain Alward asked all those who wished to be prayed for to stand up. I arose. He then said to come to the penitential form. I found myself there while others were praying. The effectual, fervent prayers of a righteous man availeth much, "came into my mind, and on arising, I felt much more strengthened. None other but God knows of the battle fought and the victories won since then between myself on the one side and the world, flesh, and devil on the other, and to-day I can safely say that through the power of God and the name of Jesus, the New Jerusalem has come to my soul.

Praise the Lord, praise none other, praise and adore His holy and blessed name always. Captain Curry dealt very earnestly with me in behalf of my salvation, urging me to be reconciled to those who had cut against me for injuring them in any way, as to make my gifts at the altar acceptable to my God.

There is nothing to-day comes up before my conscience to be done, but these words, "Go out and preach the Gospel to every living creature." How my heart burns when I make up my mind I will lay down my life as my Master laid His down!

I am here ready to go at Thy call, dear Master, for You have suffered so much for me; anywhere, everywhere for Thee, and Thee alone.

The navigator, when in dread of a storm, casts out his anchor. We, too, if we possess the anchor of hope fixed in God, need fear no storm.

Reasons to a true believer in like water to a fish; it is his element; he lives in it, and he could not live out of it. Religion, that which cometh from above, is full of joy and gladness and holy liberty. It lets the saints down in the clear, limpid waters of the sea of love, and brings them up renewed in all the life of God.

BURNING THE WAR CRY.

I joined the Baptist Church in this place in 1885. Every family I boarded with while engaged in teaching, with the exception of one, were Baptists, and I seemed to grow attached to that denomination.

I do not remember ever hearing the Salvation Army ever spoken of before the winter I was at Truro, and then it was in a very interesting manner by a young lady, a Roman Catholic. I wondered a great deal what they were like,

A YOUNG MAN as cook for Working men's Hotel. Must be a Salvationist. Apply Commandant H. H. BOON, Salvation Army Temple, or direct to 291 Victoria Street.

"Out of the"

A RESCUE

BY KENNEDY

time, and the children were as a consequence of were administered. No education, but the mother's cruel temper was the influence of alcohol.

Flew at a

with a large knife, and it also received a cut upon it of which are yet visible. At such times was her deeply loved, seeking him working, and come home crying, when she would release.

When ten years of age, determined to leave her to Canada, and do for it was not so easy a task as it came to doing well.

Out at a

at the age of sixteen, she her employer's son; and, her large cities, her path steep incline. The old had lain apparently down this great sorrow, and she

One night, coming out whiskey was sold on the a policeman, and was arrested. The next morning put that time in her life, and of eighteen months of singular feelings of despair.

"I often felt like killing speaking of that

Dreadful Pri

On her release, she the Chief of Police to Rescue Home in the West. Another term of imprisonment, that if summoned he would be back immediately.

At first she was quiet, unable temper broke out, out of the doors, the day

"I don't care what he said I go to hell or not."

Another term of imprisonment, and the devil seemed to be

"There never was a gentleman in the midst of it; it was a man."

Term of Pur

to make her more

"Out of the Depths."

A RESCUE STORY.

BY ENRIQUE A. COWAN.

A stranger was little Jessie to the evils and taste of liquor. Her parents always had it on the table at meal-time, and the children's cups were filled as well as those of their parents; and results of course followed.

Father and mother quarrelled terribly at times, and the children's bones were often sore as a consequence of the thrashings that were administered. Not always for their offences, but the gratification of the mother's cruel temper when she was under the influence of alcohol. At one time she with a large knife, and in protecting her face, she received a cut upon her hand, the marks of which are yet visible. Jessie's only refuge at such times was her father, whom she dearly loved, seeking him out where he was working, and come home with him in the evening, when she would be safe from further violence.

Flew at Jessie

When ten years of age, she and her sister determined to leave her unhappy home, came to Canada, and do for themselves. But it was not so easy a task as the imagined when it came to doing work.

Out at a Farm,

at the age of sixteen, she was led astray by her employer's son; and, drifting into one of our large cities, her path was steadily on the steep incline. The old drink-craze, that had laid her apparently dormant, was aroused in this great sorrow, and she drank deeply.

One night, coming out of a place where whiskey was sold on the sly, she encountered a policeman, and was arrested. The next morning put in the dock for the first time in her life, and received her sentence of eighteen months imprisonment with monthly feelings of despair and rage.

Dreadful Prison Life.

On her release, she was headed by the Chief of Police to the officers of a Reformatory in the West, with the strict intention, that if unmanageable, she was to be headed back immediately to him.

At first she was quiet, but the old ungovernable temper broke out, and as she passed out of the doors, the Captain heard her exclaim:

"I don't care what becomes of me now; or if I go to hell or not."

Another term of imprisonment followed, and the devil seemed to take full possession of her.

"There never was a quarrel or fight, but I was in the midst of it; I didn't care what became of me," she said. Each seemed to make her more wild and reckless.

Term of Punishment

When released, after working a short time, she again got in with a lot of companions, herself the life of the party, she was again dragged down into vice and sin. Becoming tired of her life, she sought admission to the Rescue Home.

Her resolutions to do good were but short-lived, and one warm summer night saw Jessie and another girl starting away from the hearts that had loved them and were praying for their salvation, down into the depths again—wandering the streets by day, sleeping in an empty house at night. After two weeks' wanderings, like the prodigal, she came to herself, and was slowly wandering her way past the Rescue Home, when the Rescue Mother's eyes, that had so often sought the windows and peered through the trees, were rewarded with the glimpse of a pink dress, a sharp rap at the door, and her heart beat fast as she went to see if it was the prodigal, but instead a tall policeman was standing there.

Travel-stained and Footsore,

"I believe two of your girls, who have run away, are outside the fence. I cannot arrest them, but will make them come back if you wish."

"No, thank you, I want it to be of their own free will when they come back," she answered. And turning aside, she whispered prayer went up with the upward glance. "Father, they're ashamed, but make them give in and come home," and the next faint rap that came appeared. "Please will you forgive me and take us back?" were the tearful words that came.

Jessie's Sunburnt Face

"Of course, dear, if you're sorry and want to do right," she answered, and they were taken in.

Severe illness followed, but Jessie's heart was like rock. After a few months of suffering from exposure, she lay upon an hospital bed, while the kind doctors and nurses bent over her with anxious glances.

But a work had been begun in her soul, and in between the awful spasms of pain, she saw for the first time, her sins in all their nakedness. Forgiven by all her gay companions, Unused Forts and Poor Backsliders.

BY MAJOR J. READ.

ANY OF OUR readers have heard of that narrow neck of water leading into the St. Johns N.F. harbor called "The Narrows." On either side rises steep precipitous walls of weather-beaten rock. In one or two of the niches of these rocks are still to be found the remains of what were once strong fortresses. The small ramparts are still there. The rails on which the guns used to revolve are there, but in a rusty condition. So narrow is this piece of water that it would be a sorry day for the biggest man of war to ever attempt an entrance to this fast-floated harbor, provided the fortifications are strong and good. But they are not. Cannons have been removed; soldiers have been withdrawn; rampart walls are tottering and decaying, and with ease could an enemy sail into the quiet harbor, open fire on and bombard the colony's capital, and causing bloodshed, devastation, ruin, and despair on every hand. A glance at the accompanying illustration will give readers a fair idea of what we mean. What a useless, powerless thing is an unfortified fortress! Such is the St. Johns Narrows.

What about an unfortified soul! Such is the soul of the poor backslider. Once his heart was strong; once he had power to resist and repel the strongest temptation. Though an host encamped against him, he feared not, because his armor was bright and his weapons were strong. He was strong in the Lord and in the power of His might. Thus he conquered. Woo be to the enemy that dared defile him or rob his peace. Now all is changed. Literally has he thrust away His Saviour. The cannons of his soul have been removed; the ramparts have tottered; his soul is black with despair; temptations overcome him. He yields to every foe, and the ruin and devastation of his poor soul and life is complete. The devil's cannonade has wrought terrible work; the city is spoiled, and on to hell he speeds, by his influence and by his unholy life, taking thousands of others with him. Poor backslider!

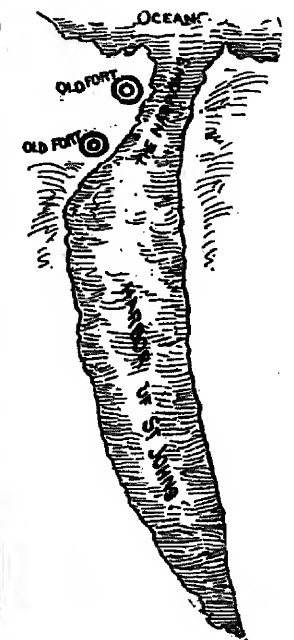

Now, what about the great army of backsliders? They throng the churches;

30 AND OVER.
Captain Milner, Fort Arthur	94
50 AND OVER.
Sister Burket, Pembroke	51
Mrs. Stacey, Kingston	51
40 AND OVER.
Captain Rutledge, Galt	45
Lieutenant Hill, Brockville	48
Brother Romney, Kingston	40
30 AND OVER.
Lieutenant Moulton, Galt	32
20 AND OVER.
Ensign Brighten, Springfield	29
Captain Bowring, Springfield	28
Captain Parsons, Brockville	26
Lieutenant Hill, Brockville	25
Ensign Romney, Kingston	25
Sister Wall, Galt	21
Sister Hume, Kingston	20

they fill our barracks; like shattered hulks they strew the shores of time; they hinder poor sinners from coming to the Cross; like waves of the sea they are driven, and tossed; hungry, starving, miserable, and destitute, they sit in the barracks, a veritable stumbling-block to those who desire to be saved.

While many of these so-called backsliders may have had very little salvation to go from, yet there are many who have literally turned their backs upon Jesus; the thorns they have again pushed into His precious brow; the spear have they thrust into His side; denial after denial has been hurled at His character; many times have they sorely wounded His feelings and tried His patience; base has been their conduct; they have thrust their best friend from them; they have torn and lacerated His loving heart, again opened His wounds. The devil gloats over their defeat, laughs at their loss, pays them awful wages, allures them on, and ultimately damns them to all eternity. Let us make a raid upon poor backsliders.

EASTER "OIV"—ADDITIONAL.

Captain Milner, Fort Arthur	78
Captain Markle, Perry Sound	65
Wm. Smith, Hamilton H.	40
Captain Beach, Campbellton	40
Candidate Mrs. MacIsaac, Perry Sound	35
Sergeant Stickells, Lings Street	35
Sergeant Baird, Campbellton	35
Brother P. Smith, Campbellton	35
Captain MacIsaac, New Westminster	110
Captain Milner, Fort Arthur	100
Sergeant Armstrong, St. John H.	70
Lieutenant Gooding, New Westminster	65
Mrs. Hoffman, Woodstock	55
Sergeant Mrs. Bowcock, Lippincott	50
Father Dixon, Toronto	50
Lieutenant Tuttle, St. John L.	44
Lieutenant Hill, Brockville	41
Lieutenant Bryan, Woodstock	35
Sergeant Baird, Campbellton	35
Brother P. Smith, Campbellton	35
Captain Prince, St. John L.	35
Ordnance Officer, Lings Street	35
Sergeant Modock, Lings Street	35
Sergeant Stickells, Lings Street	35
Sergeant Bowers, Lings Street	35
Captain Markle, Perry Sound	35
Captain Rutledge, Galt	35
Maria Watson, Pembroke	35
Lieutenant Mitchell, Antigonish	35
Sergeant Haynes, St. John L.	35
Ensign Mrs. Cass, Simcoe	35
Captain Collier, Chatham	35
Ensign Rowlett, Petrolia	35
Grace Amour, Brockville	35
Lieutenant Moulton, Galt	35
Captain Orchard, Petrolia	35

SUN AFTER RAIN.

From This Life to the Realms Above.

BELLEVILLE—Private Mrs. CLEMENT, aged twenty-four, a faithful comrade, has been called from our ranks here below to join the angels in heaven.

She died at 2 a.m. Monday, March 26th. Our comrade, Mrs. Clement, was a faithful soldier for several years in Canadian corps, and since that corps closed she has faithfully in Belleville.

Wielded the Sword

During her short illness Christ was her portion. Just before passing away her husband said,

"Are you well in your soul?" She answered with a heavenly smile, "Yes, yes, yes," and then passed from this life to the realms above.

"Light after darkness, sun after rain,
Light after mystery, peace after pain;
Joy after sorrow, calm after blast,
Rest after weariness, sweet rest at last."

On Wednesday following we gave her a real Army funeral. We had an impressive service at the house, led by Adjutant Manton, when he spoke of the necessity of being ready for death. We marched from the house to the Canfield cemetery, a distance of three miles. Forty-three soldiers on the march, besides Christian friends and relatives. Adjutant Manton gave a song out

At the Graveside.

"The blast of the trumpet, so loud and shrill,
Will shortly re-echo o'er cannon and hill."

Afterwards he warned the people not to neglect salvation, but to seek forgiveness and prepare for death. Many wept and drank in the words; and many, we believe, through her death shall be brought to life.

ERNEST WIDEMAN.

THE

Army Colors Above the Coffin.

HER BONNET AND BIBLE ON EARTH, WITH THE CROWN OF GLORY IN HEAVEN.

The Baby on Her Arm.

PETERBORO—SERGEANT MRS. ARNOLD.—Death has visited our ranks at Peterboro, taking away Sergeant Mrs. Arnold, and her little babe—wife and child of Bandmaster Arnold.

Among the large number of soldiers in the 112th corps, Mrs. Arnold was one of the noblest.

A Loyal Salvationist.

She was converted at Halifax, Nova Scotia, on the 10th of September, 1885, under Staff-Captain N. Buxton. She fought as a soldier for some time, being Wagon Sergeant, and also helping to work some of the villages around. Her life was one of cheerfulness and blessing.

Hearing God's voice calling her to the field, she obeyed, and on the 27th of August, 1896, went to her first corps, Peterboro, as CADRE.

Soon after this, she received orders to leave and go to Toronto.

There was a number went West at this time, so meetings were held on the way up; some places they had a terrible fight, once being Nearly Killed.

After attending some meetings, led by Commissioner Coombe, at which she received great blessing, she went with Captain Fielder to Bowmanville.

From here to Georgetown, as the first Salvation Army officer.

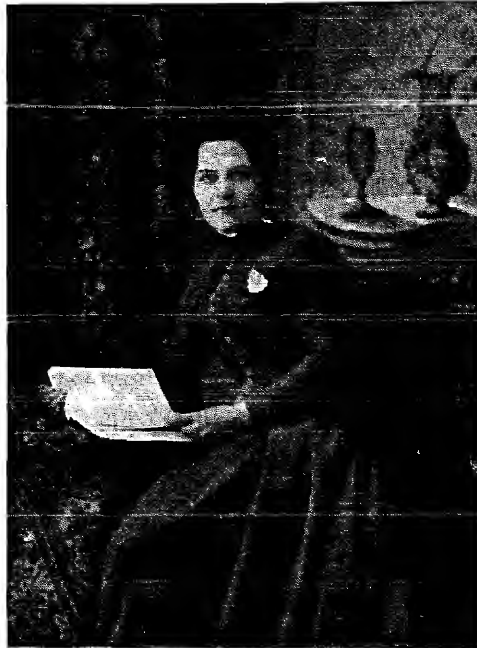

The comrades in these places will not forget her life, how she toiled for the Kingdom.

After this, she went through the French Training Home, and fought for some time

Among the French

in Quebec and Montreal.

Her next appointments were: Farmerville, Brookville, Winchester, Pembroke, Morrisburg, Perth, Sherbrooke, Point St.

Charles, and then back to Sherbrooke. At some of these places she had one being at Point St. Charles, on Sunday afternoon, March 15th, 1896; but God helped her to stand and warn the people.

A Real Fight.

While stationed at Sherbrooke the second time, she was married to Frank Arnold.

This caused her to withdraw from active field service, but it did not slacken her zeal for God and souls, or her love for the Army.

Soon after, they moved to Peterboro, where both have fought as soldiers ever since. Very often she has been heard to say:

"I have no use for people who have worked in the Army as officers, when they withdraw, to try and for I believe if a person hears right in their soul, they will not talk like that; I believe the wrong must be in themselves, and not in others."

Do Harm,

There are her words. As a soldier she was loyal in every respect. While visiting her home about a year ago, she led her sister to Christ, who has been a Salvationist ever since.

One of her favorite songs was,

"Love of love to wanderers," another,

"Stand to arms."

Many hearts have been touched through her singing, and led to Christ.

Death came very suddenly. None of us expected it till the very last. I visited her a few hours before she passed away, and although in terrible pain there was

Not A Single Doubt.

She lay there ready for the Master to come, if it was His will. Then a short time before going she said to her husband,

"Frank, be a soldier as long as you live, and bring the two little girls up for God in the Army."

She also desired that her sister should become a soldier and look after them.

She died a real Army soldier, so we gave her a real Army funeral. Arrangements were made, and we met at the house for a short service, then formed a procession. First the advance guard, then the colors, band, and the coffin on an open sleigh covered with red, the Army colors over the coffin; then the bearers on foot (six ladies with white muskies; then the musicians and a long line of soldiers bringing up the rear, each wearing a sash.

We marched to the barracks for a short service. About six hundred people attended. The coffin was placed in front of the platform, her bonnet and Bible lying on top. The service was very impressive. Several comrades sang and spoke of our comrade's devotion, and warned the unawakened, among them being Mrs. Rosiga Mitchell. About three hundred stood up at the close of the service and running down their cheeks,

Sang with Tears

"See from His hand, His hands, His feet," giving themselves afresh to God.

I shall never forget this sight—our comrade, Sergeant Mrs. Arnold, in the coffin, with her uniform, and her little babe lying on her arm, both cold in death, and this crowd of people standing up before God.

Let us be true to our vows, comrades.

Thus we formed in procession again as before, and marched to the cemetery. The streets were lined with people, and I believe the life of our comrade preached a wonderful sermon as we marched along.

She was a kind wife, and a good mother. You could visit her home at any time; she was the same with her children as on the platform; her life and home would bear inspection. This brought a triumphant death and a glorious faith.

At the memorial service on Sunday night, her sister was the first to kneel at the Cross and ask God for pardon. Five others followed. Oh, what a time of rejoicing! The death of Sergeant Mrs. Arnold has already proved a great blessing. May God bless Bandmaster Arnold and the two little ones, and help us to live right, then we shall meet above.

ERNEST COOMBS, D. O.

"I've Run on Too Long."

BY DEVA SINGHA (HUNTER.)

We had got well up clear of the Grecian Isles into clear water. It was Sunday night; a calm, beautiful night, one of those rare nights when darkness creeps quietly down; the stars are out clear, bright, and twinkling before one is really aware that another day has slipped into eternity.

I lingered longer on deck than usual, when eight bells rung out on the bridge reminding me that it was time to turn in.

Quite a change now, I thought, as I was called at midnight. She was rolling heavily; an occasional thud on deck told me that she was Shipping Seas.

Cautiously opening the cabin door, I watched my chance for a dry passage to the lee of the engine room casing. Before descending, I looked around at the weather overhead. Black clouds were being driven across the sky, while the sea was almost white. The increasing gale caught the top of the waves, carried them off, and scattered them over the ship in large drops, like tropical rain.

On relieving the watch, I was told to keep a sharp lookout, as we were in for a proper blow before morning.

From twelve to one the gale increased, when the order came below, "Get ready; we are going to 'heave to'" (put the ship's head on to the wind). The telegraph rang out. I gave her all she could stand. She

Quivered from Stem to Stern

as the propellers left the water. I felt her pitch; then she rolled heavily to starboard. I clung harder to the levers as she keeled over to port; then I knew the attempt had been unsuccessful. Clang went the telegraph again: "Slow."

I waited a few minutes before making for the engine-room door to have a look at the weather. The captain was there before me, holding on, watching the sailors trying to take in the remains of a trysail.

"Won't she come round, sir?" I asked.

"No, I've run on too long."

Out of the storm the captain's word may come home to you, sinner—drifting, helpless, tossed, and buffeted by each passing wave of passion that surges over your soul. The sins that you made light of a few years ago have now become your master. You were warned, advised, pleaded with, but no "time enough." At last you try, and find you have run on too long; you rise of your own creation; then you find, like the captain who was advised early in the night to "heave to," that the winds only mock your efforts and re-echo the despairing wail—

To Breathe the Tempest

"No hope; I've run on too long." Then the numbness of despair creeps over your half-damned soul.

But, was there no hope? Yes, one: a very slender one—DAYBREAK.

At the rate we were being driven by the gale, a few hours after daybreak would bring us to land—and then—

The gale increased, the wild whistled through the rigging; blocks, spars and derricks creaked and groaned; the rain of the trysail did their best to increase the noise as they folded and unfolded with a loud cracking, resembling the sound given by a hundred teamsters' whips. It was time against the elements, with twenty-five unweary immortal souls at stake.

A Terrible Race—

One hour passed. Another; all eyes were bent to the Eastward, our hope lay there, would day never come! A faint streak, our hopes rose, it broadened out, and as it grew broader a perceptible lull in the wind followed.

All sail set for another attempt.

Would She Come Round?

Again the telegraph rang out, everybody stood at their post. It seemed ages to us in the engine-room as we clung to the rails and levers. Would she come round? was the question. She stopped rolling so heavily, her movement became easier, then I knew we were saved.

My brother, your only hope is in Him Who calmed the Galilean storm. The disciples felt themselves lost, at the mercy of the winds and waves. "Lord help us, we perish!" They turned to the East that morning. Their hope was in Him. Thank God there's hope for Every Storm-Tossed Soul.

He says, "Are you comfortless? I will be comfort to you. Are you weak? I will be your strength. Are you sorrowful? I will be your joy. Are you despairing and hopeless? I will be your hope." Ohn that as you are. It may seem a long distance off. Get your eyes fixed on Him Who is our hope. That faint light on the horizon is increasing. Never mind if the rum of the billows ring in your ears. You've turned your back on the doom that waits you. Your eyes are turned heavenward, the light increases. So does your joy. Your strength comes back, you feel yourself a man again. Despair, gloom, doubts and sorrow are flying before the increasing light.

Like the Apostles, you begin to wonder what manner of a Christ is this, Who in one word can do what you've been trying to do for years—

Calms the Storm,

brings joy and peace, and is serving you to fight on from victory unto victory, not

"Demanding the irreconcilable pain
As wholly wanted; wholly vain
H. rising on its wrecks, at last
To something nobler we attain."

Captain A. Wightman's Testimony.

"Five years ago this month, God saved me. Those five years have been years of joy, peace, rest, and victory. Jesus and His will are His favor were never more dear. As I write this, my heart runs over with joy, for I know that I am in God's will, and I have His smile of approval. His favor. I am in His being His 'in sunshine or darkness.'"

The hard times evidently have most wonderfully decreased the volume of the light traffic, when 1,000 saloon keepers have gone out of business during the past month by reason of financial depression in the United States.

The rottenness of society in San Francisco and its disregard for the sanctity of the marriage tie, is evidenced by the fact that the "City of the Golden Gate," has the largest proportion of divorces to marriages of any city in the world. For every 10,000 marriages, there are 2,233 divorces.

OUR FAMILY A

Consecration and No

Present your bodies a living acceptable unto God, which is your service.—ROMANS XII. 1.

Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may be meat in Mine house, saith the Lord God of Israel, who dwelleth between the cherubims, and I will be reconciled to you, and ye shall be My people, and ye shall know that I am the Lord your God, when I shall open the windows of heaven, and shall pour you out a blessing, that there shall not be room enough to receive it.—MALACHI III. 10.

But My servant, Caleb, because he had another spirit with him, and he hath followed Me fully, him will I bring in, whither I went; and his seed shall possess it.—NUMBERS XIV. 24.

Fellow people with all men, and I will show which no man shall see the way to life.—MATTHEW XIII. 14.

The Christian is not ruined the world, but by the world. Character comes from walking not with doctrines nor theories. Horrore.

He Who bids us leave the gift and be reconciled to our brother, as go back and be reconciled to which we may have quarreled.

Not your fortune, your poem, but yourself God wants.—WISDOM.

The way of holiness is wonderful not miraculous. Those in it, with faith alone. And perhaps there were remarkable nor wonderful that a result so great should be possible so simple.—FRANKLIN.

The great secret of advancement, high degree of spiritual life, is to be a strict, unwavering, operation with God's will moment

THE MISSION OF C

To Destroy S

BY MAQUINISTA.

(Continued.)

St. Paul says, "Shall we continue in sin that grace may abound?"

"God forbid!"

How shall we who are dead to longer therein? Every effort to the cause of misery, disease, sinfulness, etc., etc. If we are gridden we are not the world is positively filled with mighty influences; though many men except by their work distinctly felt; others may call it peace, I call them and if we are not controlled by the other. If we are not the light it is because we are the God of this world.

God and Satan,

Just as long as Satan can be telling them they must sin in business of damning souls v prosperous.

Christ says, "Come unto Me, ye heavy laden and I will give you rest. Ye who find the burden of the fighting too severe, you right; you struggle to live right; you keep God's laws.

You who find a law in your that prevents you from doing what you want to do, and compels you to do what you do not want to do, you are in a state of conviction, being of wrong, and not having the right.

You cannot help this, for

OUR FAMILY ALTAR

Consecration and Holiness.

Present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service.—ROMANS XII. 1.

Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may be meat in Mine house, and give Me now herewith, saith the Lord of heaven, and pour you out a blessing, that there shall not be room enough to receive it. MALACHI III. 10.

But My servant, Caleb, because he had another spirit with him, and hath followed Me fully, him will I bring into the land whither I have sworn to say unto thy fathers. NUMBERS XIV. 24.

Follow peace with all men, and holiness with- out which no man shall see the Lord.—HEBREWS XII. 14.

The Christian is not ruined by living in the world, but by the world living in him. Character comes from walking with God, not with doctrines nor theories.—MARGARET BOURKE.

He who bids us leave the gift on the altar, and go and be reconciled to any duty with which we may have quarreled.

Not your fortune, your poem, your book; but yourself God wants.—WENDALL PHILLIPS.

The way of holiness is wonderful, but it is not miraculous. There is in it, walk by simple faith alone. And perhaps there is nothing more remarkable nor wonderful in it, than that a result so great should be produced by a principle so simple.—FENELON.

The great secret of advancement to those high degrees of spiritual life which are attainable, is a strict, unwavering, faithful co-operation with God's will moment by moment.

THE MISSION OF CHRIST.

To Destroy Sin.

BY MAQUINISTA.

(Continued.)

St. Paul says, "Shall we continue in sin that grace may abound?" and answers, "God forbid."

How shall we who are dead to sin live any longer therein? Every effort has a cause, and the cause of misery, discontent, restlessness, aimlessness, etc., is godlessness. If we are godless we are not sinners, for the world is positively filled with the two mighty influences; though mysterious and unseen except by their works, they are distinctly felt; others may call them what they please, I call them and if we are not controlled by one we are by the other. If we are not walking in the light it is because we are blinded by the God of this world.

God and Satan,

Just as long as Satan can fool people by telling them they must sin continually, his business of damning souls will be very prosperous.

Christ says, "Come unto Me all ye that are heavy laden and I will give you rest." Yet who find the burden of life heavy, the fighting too severe, you want to live right; you struggle to live right, but cannot keep God's laws.

You who find a law in your members that prevents you from doing the good you want to do, and compels you to do the evil you do not want to do, you are continually in a state of conviction, being convicted of wrong, and no having the power to do right.

You cannot help this, for Satan is stronger than you, and is exceedingly cunning. It is this

Liar and Deceiver

that causes all the unrest in our souls; but though we cannot contend with him, Christ can.

For this purpose was He manifested to destroy the works of Satan. Where? Out of the human heart; and He gives us rest by removing the cause of unrest.—MS.

He performs a miracle by thoroughly cleansing the heart and entirely changing the nature, and we do not sin because the cause—Satan—has been removed; all sin has been completely rooted out, and something else has taken place.

We have become the temple of the living God; where once sin reigned, the dove of peace now nestles, the Spirit of Love, the Spirit of Christ; the old things have passed away, all things become new, and we are new creatures in Christ Jesus. Remilit.

Rest, Peace and Joy.

Unless this change takes place it is simply impossible to enjoy rest and peace, for if we sin daily we must be in a state of unrest daily, the effect following the cause, and we do not know Christ, for St. John says, "Whoever sinneth hath not seen Him, neither known Him."

For myself I cannot understand how I can be saved if I continue in sin. The Bible teaches that I must turn away from sin and do that which is lawful and right, and I shall save my soul alive.

If we are dead to sin we are alive to righteousness; our old man is crucified with Christ; the great "I" has disappeared, and it is no longer "I," but Christ; we have obeyed the call; we have been to the great Teacher, and we have learned of Him to be in heart, and we have found rest to our souls; Jesus has come into our lives and controls us. We are nothing, consequently we cannot be hurt.

Meek and Lowly

We do everything to the glory of God, and if we are slighted, or reviled, it does not affect us, and it is Christ who bears for us, and He never retaliates except with love. Nothing ever disturbed the calm tranquility of His life.

ODDMENTS.

The devil carries no keys, for men are his porters.

Money, without the grace of God, is a curse—an awful curse.

If thou seest one in distress ask not who he is, aid him—even if he is an enemy.

If a man has the grace of God in him, and plenty of grit, he can do anything—overcome every obstacle.

No man can lead until he has learned to follow, and no man can command until he has learned to obey.

"First, be sure it is God's work; second, be sure it is your work; third, be sure it is God's way; fourth be sure it is God's time. These things being settled, there need not be any indecision about your call."—REV. DR. FLEMING.

When Christians are full of the Spirit you cannot keep them from singing, and when they are not filled with the Spirit they cannot be made to sing.

It was a mortifying mistake when Abraham Walker, a Y.M.C.A. delegate was arrested, handcuffed, and jailed at Atlanta, for winking at a well-known society lady; but the police discovered they had the wrong man.

The ups and downs of a worldly life were exemplified in a striking manner, when Mrs. Sarah Newton Blanchard, a former Washington society belle, was buried in Denbury, Connecticut, March 23rd, at the expense of the town.

"HOME BIRD" CHRISTIANS will have to look to their laurels, when they see what converted heathens are doing: The Chinese Y.M.C.A. in San Francisco, has recently sent $42,000 to Canton as a contribution for the evangelization of their countrymen.

A PHILADELPHIA once said: "Prepare to meet God at least a day before you die." "But," said his friend, "I do not know when that day may come." "Then," said the sage, "Prepare now, lest to-morrow be your last."

"I DON'T believe, because a man has made money, he is necessarily a successful man. Many wealthy men are absolute failures; but if a man uses the facilities the Almighty has given him in the way the Almighty intended, he will be a successful man."—REV. MR. PATTERSON, Toronto.

A Terrible Death-Bed Scene.

"Pale as a ghost sitting on a cloud" lay that young man. What was it that "wrapt the hour of gloom in tenebrous woe," and made death what Aristotle called it, "the terrible of terrors?" It was his repeated acts of rebellion against the Holy Spirit.

With his soul upon his trembling lips, he confessed it, "while grief beyond description grieved" around that dying bed; for his weeping friends were there, and an aged father, and the young lady to whom he was betrothed. But hear his sad confession:

"In early days the Spirit strove To guide me fast to heaven; I heard the gentle whisper then, 'Repent and be forgiven.' And yet, I grieved that Monitor away—He pled in vain, And 'twere a boon I dare not crave To hear His voice again!

Say not the star of Bethlehem Shall glitter o'er the tomb! On me his beams may never fall, To guide my pathway home. The looms of the undying worm Are piercing now my soul; I see the cavern of despair, I hear the billows roll.

And now, farewell! I discovered In the last terrestrial tie; Swift-planned to the bar Of injured Majesty I fly! And ere the herald of my exit Chimes its solemn knell, Ye are waving o'er the dust Of one who lives a fiend in hell.

The veil is drawn: eternal truth Is to my soul revealed, And by Jehovah's fiat sure I know my doom is sealed."—From Revival Sermons by Coughley.

Time is eternity in embryo; eternity is time in extension.

DISCOURAGEMENT.

BY W. J. PAYNE.

Who is it that has not at sometime or other been faced by the harmless-looking, yet very subtle and injurious foe of discouragement, who so often steals in on the unwary soul?

It comes to us whether we live in

The Mansion or the Cot.

Though it appears innocent looking, it is the wolf in "sheep's clothing," bent on plunder.

Has not discouragement overcome many in the past, when perhaps they were on the very eve of scoring their greatest victory, but through yielding they fell through and lost the battle, when, if they had only held on in this darkest moment, light would have broke in triumph?

Can we not see its

Ruin and Wreckage

on every hand? It may not be so swift in killing as other evils, or so blighting as the liquor, but its poison is just as injurious to the soul, for it leaves many a blood-ransomed one to wail in bitterness under its iron heel. Has it not weakened and put out the light of many who bid fair to be mighty men? Does it not blind many to the will of God by putting out their spiritual eyes, depriving them of spiritual discernment to choose what is good? But alas! how disappointing and sad to see those we expected better from, Samson-like of some uncircumcised Philistine, grinding out a very sorrowful existence.

In the Dungeon Cell

Discouragement breeds discontent, which often leads up to the commission of other sins. It is a foe that is not so much dreaded as others, therefore more readily creeps into the heart when light and life has gone to give place to darkness and spiritual death.

Spiritual death then detroned peace, while it reigns Shrouded in Gloom.

This robs all who are victimized by it of the wealth and strength of the grace of God, and leaves them in poverty to die within the reach of plenty.

No matter what source this apparent friend (but nothing the less a rank foe with its assumed garb of politeness) haile from, though it may be wrapped in all the colors of the rainbow, and though it appears to sing the sweetest among the nightingale songsters, don't be attracted by it, for the devil is in the business hid underneath, only to fascinate and then strangle.

It is said of

A Certain Kind of Snake

that it can throw out sufficient enchantment in a sort of musical sound so as to charm a bird some distance off, until finally the bird begins to come towards the snake. Allured by the sound it draws nearer, then when the snake sees the bird is near enough it swallows it right off.

Look out for those worldly pleasures and amusements, for they have their charm. Discouragement will send you to them for satisfaction; but be assured there is

"Death in the Pet."

Therefore, beware of giving place to discouragement.

Give no place to discouragement; shun it as you would the most subtle serpent you saw lurking in the pathway of life, waiting until you came within its reach to infuse leaving its deadly poison behind; it only remains for you then to suffer and reap sorrow in proportion to injuries inflicted.

The Venomous Fangs,

The prevailing monster, discouragement, is around with other devils tearing at every door and window; but woe to him that openeth the door, for it will mean a bitter experience.

Sometimes it is a soldier which allows himself or herself to get discouraged over difficulties arising from the unconquered of the home, or those whom they work with at their daily occupations.

Oh, how dreadful when it comes to a leader of the people to sink beneath the billows of discouragement, leaving the flock to

The Mercy of the Wolf.

Difficulties and the non-prosperity of that which we undertake to do are the creators of much of the existing discouragement of to-day. Providing your calling is an honest one, God has said, "MY GRACE IS SUFFICIENT FOR THEM."

Looking to Thee.

BY A. ROWAN.

TUNE—Whiter than snow.

We're Fighting.

BY MARIA SIMPSON.

TUNE—Stand up, stand up for Jesus.

- 1 We are fighting for our Saviour,
King Jesus, up on high,
All out-and-out for Jesus,
For Him to live and die;
We won't be lukewarm cowards,
But all be true and brave,
And follow our Redeemer,
Who came the world to save.

CHORUS.

Stand up, stand up for Jesus.

Our strength is all in Jesus,
We have none of our own,
His power, His love is mighty,
We count on Him alone;
On Jesus Christ relying
We boldly meet the foe,
His grace is all sufficient—
This to our joy we know.

The lost are all around us,
The lost He came to save,
Oh, rise and sweep the country
In one salvation wave;
St. Johns, Quebec, Vancouver,
Cities both far and nigh,
Soldiers, go in and conquer—
Conquer for Christ or die.

A Yielded Life.

BY M. MARRIOTT.

TUNE—Come in, my Lord, come in.

- 2 What is a yielded life?
The one at God's command,
For Him to mould, to form, to use—
Resilient in His hand.

CHORUS.

Come in, my Lord, come in
And make my heart Thy home;
Come in and cleanse my soul from sin,
And dwell with me alone.

What is a yielded life?
A life whose only will When into blessed subjection brought Seeks just His love to tell.

My Choice.

BY A. GRIVITIES, J. R. SECRETARY.

TUNE—In the gloaming.

- 3 Saviour, at Thy Cross I'm kneeling,
Listening just to hear Thy voice;
Now to me Thy will revealing,
Calvary's pathway is my choice.
'Tis when trudging in Thy footsteps,
Sweetest, deepest peace is mine;
'Tis when in the darkest hour
Thou dost make Thy grace to shine.

CHORUS.

I do love Thee, Saviour,
Keep me true for ever;
Sunshine or in darkness
Help me still to follow Thee.

When I think of all Thy anguish
When in dark Gethsemane;
Crushed beneath a weight of sorrow
For a sinner such as me.
How can I withhold from Thee, Lord,
What was bought at such a price?
Take my body, soul, and spirit,
'Tis but a small sacrifice.

When by faith I go to Calvary,
See Thy precious blood all torn;
When I see the blood-drops falling
From the nails, the spear, the thorn,
In my heart there comes a yearning
For my Lord some cross to bear;
Out of love, Lord, not of duty,
I would in Thy sufferings share.

CONTENTS.

TO THE RESCUE, (Illustrated), b; Staff-Captain Birkshaw.
THE MARSHALL'S TOUR (continued).
THE COMMANDANT'S COUNCIL AT LITTONCOTT.
GIST OF THE WORLD'S CRY.
DISCOURAGEMENT, by Captain Payne.
FRIDAY NIGHT.
SAVED FARMER'S KALIDIOSCOPE.
A CANADIAN IN LONDON.
THEY FOLLOW THE DRUM. Words and Music
by Staff-Captain Marshall.

An Easter Gift from the Lord.

Mrs. Booth-Tucker has another little daughter. Canada congratulates Commissioner and Mrs. Booth-Tucker.

TORONTO, APRIL 21, 1894.

OFFICE OF THE WAR CRY,
Thursday, April 12, 1894.

VICTORY!

"Ever is the war cry, victory! victory!
Ever is the war cry, victory!
Write it on your character,
Get it on your knees,
Victory! victory!! victory!!!"

Victory! Our battle cry is "write large" on almost every despatch that comes to hand from the vast Canadian battlefield. Every corner of the territory seems to be in the very midst of successful battle. Soul-saving is the subject of the hour. Like true Salvationists, our forces forget every consideration but the one all-absorbing question of winning souls.

"All hail the power of Jesus' name!"
To Him be the glory; first at the Throne, and then in the trenches. So will the ark of God ever be found in the van of this glorious war.

TO EACH HIS WORK.

I once heard Mrs. General Booth say, "Salvationists are not made, they are born," and certainly if these hundreds of seekers are truly born of the Spirit, that Spirit will fill them with a yearning to rescue every other lost sinner of Adam's race. To those officers who have the joy of seeing these souls brought in, belongs also, in most cases, the great responsibility of making opportunities for them to work. Let every person responsible to plan his work and work his plan that every remaining rebel within the sphere of his influence shall be definitely, wisely, and persistently attacked on the eternally important matter of his soul's interests. May God give all our precious comrades at the helm wisdom to find every soldier and convert the particular work God the Holy Ghost expects each particular person to do.

"PRAY YE, THEREFORE."

But there is a matter of equally vital importance which should receive a first place in the intercession of the saints. "The harvest truly is great, but the laborers are few; pray ye, therefore, the Lord of the harvest that He would send forth laborers into His harvest. (LUKE x. 2.) So spoke our Lord and Master. The present moment is unique in the history of the world for the greatness of the harvest and the opportunity for reaping. There was a saint who marked the map of the world black where Christ was not preached, and daily prayed with that map before him, and without doubt it is in answer to the interceding of the Holy Ghost in such as he we owe the marvellous chances of to-day, but the urgent of urgent needs is the laborers. Who will go? It is the duty of all to offer the prayer for laborers; the Holy Ghost will speedily make clear His will to those He chooses for the high and holy calling. Oh, fellow-soldier,

"Sit no longer idly by
While the heedless millions die;
Lift the blood-stained banner high,
And take the field for Jesus."

"FIRST THE KINGDOM."

There is another aspect to this matter not to be overlooked. Prayer has already been offered, and in many a heart in this Dominion, God's urging is distinctly felt; but, as a writer to the Cry in this issue complains, His urgings are being stifled, and Himself grieved by contact with a rebellious will. Comrade, insult that Heavenly Visitant no longer. Many have done so at an awful cost. "Grieve not the Spirit," "Whosoever He saith unto thee, do it;" and during the few ticks of the clock of Time, which are yet left us ere the great Eternity hurries us for ever from the field of labor, let us obediently and gladly commit ourselves to the leading of the Holy Ghost, and thus prove our sonship. Remembering the words of our Lord: "Not everyone that saith unto Me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the Kingdom of Heaven; but HE THAT DOETH THE WILL OF MY FATHER WHICH IS IN HEAVEN." (Matthew vi. 21.)

YORKVILLE'S
10th ANNIVERSARY

—HAS—

Splendid Attendances and Excellent Collections.

Captain Garrett, and those assisting him, did marvels in the advertising lines previous to their big go. The barracks' front was so utilized that it presented the appearance of a huge patchwork quilt.
The Saturday night meeting was conducted by Brigadier de Beritt. On Sunday, Staff-Captain Streeton, the Headquarters' officers, and Major Complin, held the fort.
Immense enthusiasm was manifested and a total of $24.00 received for the birthday offerings.

Ensign McMillan and Captain Morris were to the front, with banjo solos.

A few of the testimonies on Sunday:—
FATHER BAXFIELD said that ten years ago he entered the Army. He sang a song composed for the occasion, which went with a swing.
FATHER FLORENCE sang a tambourine solo, and kept things pretty lively.
FATHER DIXON, War Cry seller, said he thanked God that he was saved from a drunkard's grave. In twelve months six of his old companions had been buried in drunken graves, and he thanked God that the Salvation Army, through God, had rescued him from such a fate.

MONDAY MEETINGS.

The banquet was one of the best at Yorkville.
Yorkville soldiers and friends hope that Mrs. Booth and Major Complin will pay them another visit before long.

THE CROSS which we make for ourselves by our restless anxiety for the future are not crosses that come from God.

East Ont
BRIGBrigadier and Campaign

It was a grand reception that greeted our arrival at Peterboro'. The to the front, and played through the street of the city, ultimately pulling the barracks, where a good crowd gathered.

Sunday morning, a good, soul-time at knee-drill, resulting in the TION OF ONE SOUL. About 1000 present.
The holiness meeting was well Everything was kept on the strictest full salvation. Mrs. Scott was told the Brigadier, when the latter drew not, and found that there were two caught.

A good march and open-air procession in the afternoon. The Col. large. "Cabbage Mike" was to the A fine turnout at night again. The Gospel was delivered by all, which result in the SALVATION OF SIN. Monday night was a 'traded' unit. Thus, the three days' campaign was God bless Peterboro'!

POINT ST. CHARLES.—ON OUT FOR HOLINESS Friday night SOUL for salvation. Sunday morning skill. More to follow. Good most trust increasing. God's Spirit is and souls are being convicted of sin, and faith shall bring the glory of sinners will be saved, and God's extended.—W. GOODALE, Special C.

MILLBROOK.—Since last report been steadily advancing. WAR Cry well; crowds and income increasing SOUL for cleansing, and TWO FOR TION.—LILLIE M. LADREW.

PRESBOTT.—The past week has of great blessing, and our hearts have cheered by seeing SIX PRECIOUS seeking pardon. Our sing-song meet Thursday evening was just beautiful as believing for still greater things! —Lieutenant AYLMER for Captain ON.

BROCKVILLE.—We have had Master and Captain Dodge here meetings, to help the war along. Very profitable time; everybody was and very happy. God was near. T light Service was very beautiful, and god was done, we believe. The A usual, was very happy. We b ONE SOUL this past week. Ensign posted back this week.—Captain A sons and Lieutenant HINZ.

ATHENS, ONT.—The devil defeated being four weeks without an officer, as if the devil tried to drive the Army away from Athens, but we h armed, and since Lieutenant Bird TWO SOULS have found salvation, are telling to others the glad tidings THE PRIDE KINKWOOD.

RENFREW.—We are able to p dear Lord for TWO SOULS, who and Him, and are rejoicing in His Ensign Galt paid us a visit on Good which, I am sure, was much appreciated all who came to the meeting. Comrades are all getting along w paying for victory.—Captain A. Lieutenant M. OXFORD.

SHERBROOKE.—It was with re took my stand by the side of Ensign to fight the battle for God in this place. God came very near Sunday. Good and good meetings.
Lieutenant Hide, who is our right me, has not been well for a few days getting better.—Captain W. G. MORRIS.

MONTREAL.—We have just a special week of holiness meetings. The attended by real blessing and light. Bright and ROUND THE BLESSING heart, and NOT A FEW FAR! special subject was taken by the Ensign, bringing out clearly the cutting of God.

We feel the tide is rising, glory to this city of so much form and life! We need a much, and we are believing —Ensign McILHART.

PERTH.—After seven weeks' steady came to farewell. Captain arrived on the 16th, after being a month, on account of her health.

On Sunday the comrades turned out. The march was the largest for some time held to the front. The meeting, good, but no one would yield.

East Ontario Province.

BRIGADIER SCOTT.

Brigadier and Mrs. Scott Do Three Days' Campaigning at Peterboro'.

It was a grand reception that greeted us on our arrival at Peterboro'. The band was in the front, playing through the main square of the city, ultimately pulling up at the barracks, where a good crowd had congregated.

Sunday morning, a good, soul-refreshing time at Knowlton in the SALVATION OF ONE SOUL. About fifty were present.

The business meeting was well attended. Everything was kept on the strict lines of full salvation. Mrs. Scott was followed by the Brigadier, when the latter drew in the net, and found that there were two or three caught.

A good march and open-air preceded the meeting in the afternoon. The crowd was large. "Cabbage Mike" was to the front.

A fine turnout at night again. The plain Gospel was delivered by all, which had its result in the SALVATION OF SINNERS.

Monday night was a trades union meeting. Then, the three days' campaign was closed. God bless Peterboro'!

POINT ST. CHARLES.—ONE SOUL OUT FOR HOLINESS Friday night. ONE SOUL for salvation Sunday morning at Knowlton. More to follow. Good meetings; interest increasing. God's Spirit is working, and souls are being convicted of sin. Prayer and faith shall bring the glory down, and sinners will be saved, and God's Kingdom extended.—W. GOODALE, Special Correspondent.

MILLBROOK.—Since last report we have been steadily advancing. WAR CRYs selling well; crowds and income increasing. ONE SOUL for cleansing, and TWO FOR SALVATION.—LILLIE M. LEONARD.

PERSCOTT.—The past week has been one of great blessing, and our hearts have been cheered by seeing SIX PRECIOUS SOULS making progress. Our sing-song meeting last Thursday evening was just beautiful. We are believing for still greater things in future.—Lieutenant AYLING for Captain OWEN.

BROCKVILLE.—We have had Adjutant Hunter and Captain Dodge here for two meetings, to help the war along. We had a very profitable time; everybody seemed to feel very happy. God was ready. The light service was very beautiful, and much good was done, we believe. The Adjutant, as usual, was very happy. We have seen ONE SOUL this past week.—Captain ALICE PARKES and Lieutenant HILL.

ATHENS, ONT.—The devil defiled at last. Being four weeks without an officer, it seemed as if the devil tried to drive the Salvation Army away from Athens, but we have conquered, and since Lieutenant Bird arrived, TWO SOULS have found salvation, and are now telling to others the glad tidings.—Brother PETER KIRKWOOD.

REDFREY.—We are able to praise the Lord for TWO SOULS, who have accepted Him, and are rejoicing in His love. Ensign Galt paid us a visit on Good Friday, which, I am sure, was much appreciated by all who came to the meeting. Comrades are all getting along well, and praying for victory.—Captain A. LEWIS, Lieutenant M. CONNOR.

SEERBROOKE.—It was with rejoicing I took my stand by the side of Ensign Patterson to fight the battle for God in this place. God came very near Sunday. Good crowds and good meetings. Lieutenant Bide, who is our right-hand man, has not been here for a few days, but is getting better.—Captain W. G. MURRAY.

MONTREAL.—We have just finished a special week of business meetings. They were attended by real blessing and light. MANY souls and FOUND THE BLESSING OF A clean heart, and NOT A FEW PARDON. A special subject was taken by the Ensign each night, bringing out clearly the cutting truths of God. We feel the tide is rising, glory to God, in this city as so much from a hidden religion. We need a meal, and we are believing for it.—Ensign McLEAN.

PERTH.—After seven weeks' stay here, we came to farewell. Captain Johnson arrived on the 16th, after being away for some months, on account of her brother's death.

On Sunday the comrades turned out well. The march was the largest for some years. Many hands to the front. The meetings were good, but no one would yield.

Tuesday night was my last soldier's meeting. It made me rejoice to hear the comrades testify that they were going to be true to God and the Salvation Army.

Wednesday night was our wind-up with a farewell tea. We went into our prayer meeting, and in a short time a man came and to leave. He had been about three years ago became a prodigal, and the comrades have been praying for him, but in spite of all it seemed he could not yield. We prayed and talked, and at last closed, feeling sure he would have to give in that night and come to the quarters, but before the people got out of the barracks, he was found ON HIS KNEES CRYING FOR MERCY. God came and saved him. Hallelujah!—Captain J. BROCKSHIRE.

CAMPBELLFORD.—We have lately had the joy of seeing SIX PRECIOUS SOULS crying for mercy; also have had a visit from Staff-Captain Sharp and wife. All were glad to see them. We have had AN ENROLLMENT OF RECRUITS, and expect more to follow.—Captain and Mrs. WALKER.

GANANQUE.—Another good week has just passed away, and with it time not to be forgotten. Ensign McKinnay has paid us his first visit since taking charge of the district. He drove with a load of comrades from K.—, and returned after the meeting, making thirty-six miles' drive. The Ensign ENROLLED FOUR RECRUITS and commissioned the sergeant-major and three sergeants. A good start, and we hope to keep it up.

Another addition to the corps, in the shape of a beautiful organ, presented by Mr. Henry Smith, came on last week, and the best of all, THREE SOULS saved last week.—A. E. W. COATE.

KEMPTVILLE.—We have held our fourth meeting at Hartville, a village some eight miles from here, where one of our comrades, Brother Kerr, resides.

Our friends, the Orangemen and Young Britains, have kindly granted us the use of their hall. God bless them! Much interest is manifested in God's Spirit in at work. TWO SOULS have professed salvation.—CHARLOTTE MCKINNEY.

MARKHAM.—We still push on the battle here. Knee-drills revived, and a great blessing to attenders. I heard a brother pray last Sunday, "Lord, make us givers," and while talking to a man last night, he said, "Sometimes I believe in God and sometimes I don't; when I come here I know you people don't work for money, and that makes me believe in God." So prayer is being answered. A really good time last night; crowds, good effect on some souls, though some were saved, and a good collection; Ensign Myler leading, also Captain Smith, Lieutenant B.—, and comrades from Steadville. Pray for us.—Captain PARKES.

STOUFFVILLE.—The people round here are saying, "How is it we never see a report from Steadville in the WAR CRY?" so I think it time to send one.

We have been fighting here for over two months, and the Lord has been giving us the victory. There have been TWO good cases of conversion during that time; The outlook is bright and encouraging, and we are making headway. I must tell you about our "potato collection." We announced one the other night. Everyone who came to the meeting was asked to bring one potato, the largest they could find in their cellar. Well, they brought them in baskets, and paper bags; they rolled them along the floor, they put them in the collection plate, and their pockets at the pocket from; and we shall probably have enough potatoes to last us as long as we stay here.

We had our wood-pile replenished in a similar way. Every lad who came to the meeting was asked to bring a stick of wood; here again they came to our aid, and our wood collection was quite a success. Our soldiers are in good fighting trim, and bent on having greater victories.—Captain HELLIN SMITH.

Cornwall District.

"HOLINESS" OUR MOTTO.

Friday, Saturday and Sunday, our anniversary meetings. All day Sunday we had a spiritual feast; it was good to be there. God is going to give us still greater victories. We have been asked to bring a stick of wood; here again they came to our aid, and our wood collection was quite a success. Our soldiers are in good fighting trim, and bent on having greater victories.—Captain HELLIN SMITH.

Capt. Brokenshire on Choosing a Wife.

MORRISBURG, CORNWALL DISTRICT.—Our "Singing Battle," on Thursday night, went with a swing. Captain Brokenshire was all there with his "better half" (the victim). Captain Lorter, who is determined not to die with all his men in him, sang his testimony, as did each soldier.

Saturday night a good crowd assembled to hear, "How to choose a wife." "Choose her on your knees," said Captain Brokenshire; "first of all, choose Jesus Christ as your Saviour, then let Him lead you." He told of some of the wretched homes he had seen; of one woman who had been married but a few months when she wished she had never seen her husband, he had got to be such a miserable, drunken wretch. He gave the sisters, as well as the brothers, some good, sound advice, and urged upon all to choose Christ at once.

Sunday night, Sergeant Scord farewell. The power of God was felt, souls were convicted, and as we entered the prayer meeting there was a rush, not for the persistent force, as we hoped, but for the cold world outside. One backslider remained, and as the Captain urged her to decide for Christ she arose and walked humbly and determinedly out of the door. On that great day, who shall be able to stand?

PERTH.—After four months' absence—caused by the illness and death of my dear brother—I returned to Perth, to find that Captain Brokenshire had been having wonderful victory in souls being saved and sanctified. In his farewell meeting a proper man, whom we have been long praying for, came to God. Since then several more have given themselves to Jesus, among whom was a professional doct., who has gone to his home some miles from here to burn his infidel books, and to preach where he once denounced Him. And still our faith reaches out for more, and cries, "Ride on, Thou conquering Christ!"—Captain FLORENCE K. JENNISON.

Bracebridge District Notes.

BY ENSIGN DOWELL.

Bracebridge District is advancing all round.

Captain Stagers writes from GRAYVENHURST that things are looking up. Collections doubled. That is what will happen at every corps if officers will only pay rent and D. F., but a man or woman who looks after themselves first will drop the best corps on earth.

PARKY SCOTT. Oh, that is the place to do something for Jesus. Captain Markle informs us that prospects are good.

BUFFVILLE is a proper little place with thirty-five soldiers, who can sing, dance, shout, pray; yes, and pay. Mrs. Dowell and I spent April 5th and 6th with them; had a proper jubilee; dedicated Brother and Sister Hunt's baby. Mrs. Dowell and some of the soldiers thought the Ensign would break down when he came to give the child's name, but he managed to get through it. It is as follows: Osnay Charles Connell Hunt. God bless the babe, and may it grow up to be a warrior for Jesus.

LIEUTENANT PEARCE is holding on alone, but God and the soldiers will stand by her.

Bracebridge is still on the rise; another seven added to the roll, making fifteen for the two months, and at the enrolment on the 1st of May, I think we will have another seven. Cartridge money going up, up, up. Souls every week. Last night (Sunday) two brothers found deliverance at the close. One old soldier about seventy did a proper New-fundament dance. Now some of you aged 17 and 18 old men and women, get liberty; don't be afraid to shout, or dance, or sing, or pray for Jesus; it is a proper cure for all sicknesses.

Ourselves. Mrs. Dowell is improving in health; Captain is getting fat, and as for the Ensign, he has gained four pounds since coming to Muskoka. God is with us and victory is ours.

ENSIGN DOWELL.

[More power to you, Ensign.—Ed.]

LOOK - OUT - NEXT - WEEK

— FOR —

A specially interesting series of Territorial Topics, by the Commandant.

"A Call to Arms: or, Candidates Wanted," by Major Read.

Account of Staff-Captain Jewer's trip round Lindsay District.

"Two Hours in the Toronto Men's Shelter."

"A Night in the Ark at Buffalo."

JUST IN TIME.

The Latest News

The Commandant and Brigadier Holland arrived at Winnipeg safely.

The Commandant was interviewed by three reporters in about a half an hour.

The Commandant has been met by officers at the stations en route. The spirit of love and loyalty is abundant. Prospects on the field for victory are magnificent.

MRS. BOOTH

CONDUCTS

Magnificent Meeting at Yorkville,

—AND COMPLETES—

THE TENTH ANNIVERSARY

AMIDST

An Enthusiastic Crowd of Staff and Field Officers and Salvation Soldiers,

WITH

A SINNER AT THE CROSS.

Focused From the Report.

Yorkville barracks platform was jammed full of people on the occasion of Mrs. Booth's visit.

Brigadier de Barritt and Captain Garrett are to be congratulated on the great success of the three days' anniversary campaign.

The sisters were in evidence at Mrs. Booth's great meeting, prominent amongst them being Mrs. Brigadier Holland, Mrs. Brigadier de Barritt, Mrs. Major Read, Mrs. Staff-Captain Streeton, Mrs. Staff-Captain Jewer, Adjutant Jones, Ensign Cowan.

From Mrs. Booth's address we gathered the following:—

If Yorkville is to be well represented on the heavenly parade grounds, we must have sanctified hearts here.

I am more than ever a Salvationist, and determined to do the will of God.

It requires a six-foot man for the Queen's crack regiment, but it is a heart qualification that admits to the crack regiment of the King.

We raise our Ebenezer to-night.

1st. Because God has saved us. Like Bunyan's Pilgrim, we once had an enormous parcel on our backs, and it was struggle, struggle, struggle, but at last we saw the Cross, and there our burden fell off.

2nd. For a desire to be saints, and a hatred of hypocrisy; for the resolve for not only ceremonial goodness, but the shining of a clean, pure light.

3rd. For our place in the Army. We have in the Army a beautiful chance to work if only we are faithful.

We shall meet all our actions again. We shall have to give an account of the why and wherefore of our doing. There will be no giggling at the Judgment Bar.

W. T. Stead asks, "What would Christ think if He came to Chicago?" I ask: "What would He think if He came to you?" What is the deepest motive of your life? Is it to be like Jesus?

Is your character noble or ignoble? Christ's mission was to save the lost; it should be ours, too.

Lay not up treasures on earth, but seek to be rich towards God.

Satisfaction is not found in the number of chairs and sofas you possess, but in the spirit you are of.

Captain Garrett, who, with Cadet Goff and the soldiers, has worked hard on behalf of the anniversary, in concluding a letter respecting it, says: "I feel this morning very much encouraged to go on, after the way God has blessed me in these meetings. I know God is with me, and this morning I love God, I love the work God has called me to do, and I am in for victory through the name of Jesus Christ, Who died for—BONNIE J. GARRETT."

The Devil on Trial IN CHICAGO.

[Condensed and concluded.]

Q. You wouldn't steal a $5 bill if it laid on the railing there?

A. No, sir.

Q. Who was it that led you to make the first theft?

A. The spirit of the devil; he put it into my heart.

Q. Now, then, Mr. Thomas, wasn't it your own devilishness that caused you to do these things?

Objection from Mr. Winchell, as all devilishness comes from the devil.

Objection sustained.

Q. Isn't it a fact, Mr. Thomas, that it was your own meanness that led you to do these things? Was it not your own meanness that caused the stealing?

A. Prompted by the devil.

Q. Will you please answer this question direct?

A. Yes; prompted by the devil.

Q. Now, then, Mr. Thomas, I see you are trying to switch off this question? You don't believe this was the devil?

A. No, I don't.

Q. You say at one time you were almost guilty of murder, and that a dog was the means of preventing you from committing some great harm?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. You do solemnly declare before this judge and jury, that you believe 'twas the devil that caused you to do these things?

A. I do; yes, sir.

Mr. John H. Elliott, the next witness, gave evidence that he has been acquainted with the devil in Chicago for twenty-two years; he had caused him to steal 100 head of cabbage about seven years ago, and about nine years ago, he led him into a very fast life of gambling, and told him there was money to be made at it. Since the Bible states that he that hatches his brother, is a murderer, the devil had also caused him to commit murder in his heart. Attorney Johnson then took the witness in hand.

Q. You commenced to be bad very young, didn't you?

A. Very young.

Q. Were you born bad or not?

A. Well, hardly.

Q. Well, as far back as you can remember you have been mean, haven't you?

A. Yes.

Q. You say about seven years ago the devil caused you to commit theft?

A. Yes, he did.

Q. What did you do with the cabbage—

eat them?

A. No.

Q. Can you state some other case in which you committed theft?

A. I cannot recollect any just at present.

Q. Your memory is very bad, isn't it?

A. No, but I don't want to state anything that I am not sure of.

Q. You were actually led into these crimes by the devil?

A. Yes, sir.

The attorney then asked Mr. John Barr to take the stand. Mr. Barr came up the aisle with a self-confident air, smiling and bowing to the judge and the audience. However, he soon got tangled up in replying to the questions put to him, and it was apparently a great relief to Mr. Barr when his time had expired. Mr. Barr held that the devil never did him any harm, and was the greatest friend the world ever had, in his opinion.

Mr. Winchell was on his feet instantly with an objection that it was not the opinion of the witness that was wanted, but personal knowledge. The witness said that when the devil persuaded Adam and Eve in the Garden of Eden to partake of the forbidden fruit, which made them wise, he had done the world a good turn, inasmuch as we would all be in that same ignorant state still only for his act of the devil. The witness got very enthusiastic here, and came down with his clenched fist upon the witness box.

There was hissing in the audience, which was suppressed by the Court, when the witness said he stood for the devil, and was not ashamed of it.

Cross-examination by Attorney Winchell:

Q. Mr. Barr, you have been giving your belief in the devil from the Bible?

A. All the knowledge I have of him is from the Bible.

Q. You believe in the Bible?

A. That hasn't anything to do with the devil.

Q. Please answer my question. Do you believe in the Bible?

A. I won't answer unless the Court rules that this question must be answered. The Bible is not the question.

The Court: The Court rules that since the witness has already quoted from the Bible in his testimony, he must say whether he believes in the Bible or not; therefore the question has to be answered or the witness will have to be withdrawn.

Q. Will you please answer my question directly. Do you believe in the Bible?

A. I believe in the Bible when it represents facts, as the Word of Truth or the Word of God.

Q. From your own personal knowledge—

THEY FOLLOW THE DRUM.

Composed by Staff-Capt. Marshall, Editor of the Conqueror.

By far the great-est num-ber of the peo-ple whom we
So as the peo-ple want com-in, to hear the joy-ful meet, In store-as-looms or off-i-ces or out up-on the sound, Of God's Sal-va-tion we must go where they can best be street, Are far too bus-y run-ning af-ter mon-ey, drink or found, And whether want-ing it or not we'll make them know that food, To care a-bout their souls at all or seek their high-est none, Need wretched be on earth or go to hell when life is good, But God com-mands us to go out to warn them that to done, To hun-dreds of de-spair-ing souls fresh light and hope we hall, Will sure-ly go all who des-pise His Son who loves them bring, Who hear us sing and tea-ti-ty in hall and street and all, And tell them that there's hope for all who to the cross will ring, And hun-dreds of the wor-ship-ers in- to joy and good-ness.

come, That's why we march the streets and make them fol-low the Army drum.
come, Be-cause they found sal-va-tion when they fol-lowed the Army drum.

CHORUS.

They will not go in when the church bell rings or in- to a mission hall, For par-son or priest they don't care the least they went go near them at all, But Je-sus says that from the high-ways, we've got to make them come, And thun-dreds will say they are blessing the day when they fol-lowed the Army drum.

—From the California Cry.

the devil. Do you know the devil personally?

A. No, sir.

Mr. Winchell: I cannot ask you any more questions if you don't believe in him, and since you have no personal knowledge of the devil.

Mr. Barr: I am allowed ten minutes to testify, and am going to do so; and the attorney continued his questioning.

Q. You believe in the Bible as the Word of God?

A. Just this much of the Word of God that represents facts in the Bible.

Q. Do you believe everything that is recorded in the Bible as the Word of Truth and the Word of God?

The witness tried to answer evasively, and the attorney again threatened out:

Q. Will you please answer my question? Do you believe in the Bible as the entire Word of God?

A. No, sir.

Q. You said a moment ago that you believed the Bible was the Word of Truth:

A. I didn't answer it that way. I said it was the Word of God that was representative of facts.

Mr. Winchell then appealed to the Court to have the testimony of this witness stricken out, as he, having no personal knowledge of the devil, was therefore incompetent to give testimony.

The Court: The Court decides that according to the laws of Illinois only those witnesses shall furnish evidence against any criminal as have not only a personal knowledge of the criminal, but also a personal knowledge of the case that is being tried, and as this witness has not personal knowledge of the devil, therefore the testimony of this witness is ordered stricken from the record of this case.

Mr. Barr here left the witness stand, and was followed several blocks down the street by a gang of hooding boys.

Attorney Johnson at once moved for a new trial, on the ground that the defense had not sufficient time to prepare a case.

The Court decided not to grant a new trial on these grounds, and Mr. Johnson proceeded with his argument, which was as follows:

Your Honor and Gentlemen of the Jury,—As you have listened very attentively to the evidence in this case, and as your time is very valuable, I will proceed at once with my argument. I would like to bring to your minds this fact, and wish you to consider in considering this evidence that all the witnesses for the prosecution have been Salvationists, who are notoriously prejudiced against this defendant, the devil.

One of the witnesses who took the stand was a young man by the name of Barr, who from the age of fourteen led a fast life in Paris; later he attended lectures in London on Theosophy, by a woman by the name of Annie Besant. He claims to have been led by the devil through this doctrine. I leave it to your judgment, gentlemen, whether he was led by the devil or by this woman. The next witness you listened to, gentlemen, was an Irish lady by the name of Mitchell. This lady declared that she had seen this defendant, the devil, and in the direct examination declared him to be a great big devil; but in the cross-examination, when asked how large he was, she could not tell; in fact, she confessed she had never seen him, and that this expression was one commonly used by Salvationists. The next witness was Mr. Simonson. This man claimed to have been saved at one time in his life from a life of sin and misery. For a time his home was bright and happy and all that he could wish, when suddenly one day the dark monster who had prior to his conversion owned his life and blighted his home came to him home again to slay him from his happiness. Now, then, gentlemen, I ask you if it is reasonable that a man who has once been saved from such a terrible demon should again allow himself without an exertion on his part to be led by him again.

I leave it with you, gentlemen of the jury. You have heard the testimony of Mr. Ingersoll and Mr. John Barr. I feel that I can leave the case in your hands.

After Mr. Johnson had taken his seat, Attorney Winchell made his plea as follows: Your Honor and Gentlemen of the Jury,—

As we enter into a consideration of this case we feel that inasmuch as immortal souls are involved and there should be judgment against the great arch-enemy of mankind, that all levity should be dispensed with and the most serious thought take possession of every mind.

We have heard evidence pro and con as to the guilt of the defendant, and I feel that from the very beginning there was the most positive proof that Satan had a personal existence, and that he is the author of all crime and misery and moral darkness which has been heaped upon the world for the past six thousand years. The counsel for the defendant has treated this case in a light and trifling manner, and has not produced one argument to prove that Satan is not guilty of the charges of the indictment. He tried to prove that Satan has no existence; then, gentlemen of the jury, why should he be here this evening to defend something that is not? He knows very well, as I am sure you are convinced already by these testimonies that you have heard in this case, that the devil, the original serpent, is still in the world and perpetrates his evil designs not only upon one class, but upon all. The testimonies upon the plaintiff's side have been straight and conclusive and are produced from actual experience.

Satan cannot be defended. He is guilty of all these charges brought against him. The fact of the case is, that it was not God, but the wickedness of the people that brought the destruction by deluge of the old world, and so with all other judgments. Broken laws in the moral, as well as the physical world, will certainly bring just retribution.

Put your hand in the fire, and it will burn. God's attitude to these people was that of a kind, loving Father, Who pleaded with them, Who sought after them, Who did all He could to save them, for we read that many years before the ark was finished, in Genesis vi., He speaks of His Spirit striving with them, and we know that they were given seven days of grace after the allotted time for destruction, and all this time Noah was warning and pleading with them. This only brings out the most conclusive facts from this infidel's argument—proof which would condemn the devil. The devil worked upon the people's hearts, and hardened them. The devil was proud, and rebellious, and depraved, and given over to utter abandonment to the most damnable practices, beyond the last ray of hope; so all these people were willingly and avowedly the enemies of God, and were altogether of the same spirit, and would not be saved. Your Honor and gentlemen of the Jury: No one can deny the fact, that this poor world is in a most wretched condition, and there must be some cause, and no other explanation has been produced; our witnesses all testify that they know that it was the devil, and the devil alone who robbed them of their richest and best gifts from God—joy, peace, purity, and of the very image of their Creator—and made them sinful and miserable, and not only sought to murder their souls, but would, if his diabolical designs could have been carried out, have made murderers of them. Thanks be to God that the great salvation of our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ, has come to their hearts!

You have seen, gentlemen, that Mr. Johnson has ridiculed, and tried to pick the testimonies of our witnesses, but his logic has been very poor.

In conclusion, gentlemen, as you weigh all this evidence, let me remind you that this demon is planning the damnation of every soul in this room, and of the whole world—that he will appear in some deceitful guise to take possession of each heart, and lead them away from God and hope. He already hovers in this room, lurks at the door, and hides at every corner for an opportunity to carry out his hellish designs. For the sake of these souls, bring in a just verdict, and urge everybody to escape to Calvary's mountain, where the Blood will break his power, and cleanse the heart from every sin.

Judge Beebe delivered his charge to the jury. While the head played, this body retired, and soon returned with the following verdict:

"We, the jury, find the defendant, the devil, guilty, as charged in the indictment. In view of the fact that there are a great many in the hall who are in the power of Satan, we suggest that this Court resolve itself into a prayer meeting, and give them an opportunity to be saved."

The Judge, in delivering his sentence, said that in view of the fact that the defendant was a spirit, and could not have hands laid upon him, he recommended that all Salvationists prosecute the warfare against him more vigorously than ever, and trust the Lord to mete out a just retribution.

The Court room was then, according to the suggestion of the jury, resolved into a hot prayer meeting, where some FOUR HUNDRED, who were under the power of the devil, came to Jesus Christ, the great Deliverer, and went on their way rejoicing. It is needless to say, everyone seemed to be highly pleased with result of the trial.—Court closed.

RUFUS BROWN, Court Stenographer.

[N.B.—The Chicago dailies had many columns on the trial.]

If it is the Salvation of Souls You Are Seeking, The Salvation Army Presents a Wonderfully Favorable Opportunity for the Carrying Out of that Purpose.

Brother, Notice the Big Figures at the Top of the Corps War Despatches. It Refers to Sinners at the Cross. Isn't it Beautiful?—ED.

70.

ST. JOHNS L., Nfld.—Since last report, we have had times of heavenly blessing, in seeing SEVENTY SOULS in one week tumble into the fountain, and coming out wonderfully happy.

One brother, who came out to go into the fountain, brought his tobacco-dealer with him. But before entering in, he hid him away never to keep company with him any more. May the Lord stir up all the malice and envy that is needed to keep them enemies one with the other.

A sister on coming out of this wonderful fountain, began to pray for her father and mother. God grant that they may get saved, and kept in the spirit of prayer. Praise the Lord. We are marching on to conquer.—Cadet W. H. CHASE.

52.

ST. JOHNS L.—"Praise God, the soldiers of the Army have a right to shout and sing. The way is growing brighter, and souls are on the wing." In one week FIFTY-TWO sinners were saved at the penitential-fountain, and cried to be delivered from sin. Oh, what a time of rejoicing the angels must have had in heaven. And up till this present time the glorious work has been going on; also, there has been a number seeking the blessing of a clean heart. To God be all the glory.

We shall never forget the parting on the wharf of Major and Mrs. Todd, as we sang with our hearts uplifted to God:

"No, we never, never, never will give in."

May God write it on our hearts, and make us more determined than ever.—Cadet E. HINCOCK.

12.

STRATFORD.—War! Victory! Glory! Another week of blessing and power. Foreign Gales gave us a call. A good, lively meeting it was. A cold gale was blowing outside, but the Lord opened the windows of heaven, and the heavenly gases swept us right into the fountain.

We spent Good Friday in a grand style. Afternoon and night, good crowds, straight dealing with souls, deep conviction.

Easter Sunday will not easily be forgotten by some of us; at least, not by those who were reconciled to God, and raised to newness of life in Christ Jesus. Early in the morning, as it began to dawn toward the first day of the week, some faithful and well-saved Salvationists began to gather in the lower room, not to seek the living amongst the dead, but to seek power from on high to publish the Gospel of a Risen Christ. Twenty-five were present. At 7:30, in the stillness of the morning, we sallied forth for a rousing march.

"Up from the grave He rose," from our consecrated band, rent the air, and rescued the people from their slumber. In the afternoon meeting, the power was felt from beginning. At the close, THREE SOULS surrendered to God. This increased our faith for greater things at night, when the power of the Holy Ghost seemed to grip the people. The soldiers claimed the victory by faith. ONE came, then ANOTHER, with NINE knelt at the mercy-seat. All professed to find Christ. By this time the glory began to roll over; here and there soldiers were dancing and praising God. Sergeant York, who has been troubled with rheumatism for years, jumped and skipped like a lamb. Total of souls, twelve for the day.—T. J. DAVENPORT, Icelandic Lieutenant.

11.

FEVERSHAM.—Praise the Lord, last week at Brigade No. III, TEN SOULS sought and found the Saviour. Glory to His name. On Sunday, God honored our faith, and gave us TWO SOULS for our hire. Closed the day's campaign at 10:30 p.m., by giving to Jesus the glory. This is only the beginning of better days. Look out for some extraordinary times from this corps.—Ensign and Mrs. WHELAN.

7.

BELLEVILLE.—God has given us glorious times of victory. During eight days, FIVE SOULS have found deliverance from sin, and can testify to the same. Praise God. On Sunday, God honored our faith, and gave us TWO SOULS for our hire. Closed the day's campaign at 10:30 p.m., by giving to Jesus the glory. This is only the beginning of better days. Look out for some extraordinary times from this corps.—Ensign and Mrs. WHELAN.

7.

BRANDON.—The war is still raging around here. The enemy has been making some heavy charges upon our ranks. Some have faltered, but on the whole, we are marching forward to certain victory.

Sunday was a blessed spiritual time. The tide seemed to rise every meeting, until at last TWO WANDERERS safely anchored in a haven of rest.

Monday, the converts took hold good. Tuesday, was a gathering home of soldiers, and a grand time was spent.

Wednesday, was the attack by Jonathan's Brigade. Eleven hotels were attacked at one time by our gallant soldiers, who were not afraid to fight two by two. ONE SOUL got saved standing on the sidewalk in front of an hotel.

Thursday, was a sister's meeting, when TWO SOULS cried for mercy.

Friday, was to be a deluge of fire. TWO sought the cleansing blood. Oh, for greater power to deal with the deadness around us.

The Easter Cry is praised on every hand. God bless those who had to do with putting it together.—MAGGIE.

4.

HARBOR GRACE.—Our motto is, "Victory." On Sunday, twenty-seven at kneed-drill. At the afternoon free-and-easy God spoke to the hearts of the people, and at the close two held up their hands to be prayed for. In the night meeting, after spending a while down in the prayer-room praying, we went up stairs to stand before a large audience as we have had since we have been in Harbor Grace. At the close FIVE KNELT at the cross. After dealing with God for a while on their behalf, fear across to their feet to rejoice over a new-found Saviour.—SOPHIA WISSON, Cadet, Harbor Grace Garrison, JAMES RUSSETT, Captain.

6.

Circling Glory.

OWEN SOUND.—I have just closed a most successful series of meetings in the Wierstone Circle Corps, of a week's duration. A party of five of us started on Monday, including Ensign, Captain and Mrs. Howe, Sister Woodrich, and Brother Barfoot. We saw, at a glance, any that we have seen strange things.

First, take a glance of the country, the peninsula by name, but desert by nature, stretching across seventy miles of land, a farm here and there, but the largest part of it rocky and rough, and unfit for anything, also bearing the wildest appearance that you can meeting was good. May God raise up some Daniels in this place! At GOLDEN VALLEY we hardly had standing room. Such a meeting! No abatement of the blessings from beginning to end. God came near. A good collection was given.

We drove over a hundred miles, saw six sinners saved, one soldier sanctified, and left lots under conviction. I returned to Owen Sound with this GRATEFUL FAITH in my CIRCLE CORPS SCHEMERS. Shall not those who hear of Him Who said to all, "Come unto Me." Or shall they say, "Nobody ever told me." We are responsible to help them. Yours in the service of God and man.—A. GOODWIN, Ensign.

3.

PARIS.—Crowds of people gazed at the Salvation Army Saturday night, as they marched through the streets. No doubt they were a sight to the on-lookers who saw a host of women dressed in their kitchen aprons, with brooms under their arms, followed by our Captain and Staff-Captain with weapons representing their trade. The women had a right to the front rank, as most of the men left their tools at home. A blood-and-fire open-air festival, with a few sharp shots hurled into the enemy's ranks. Cockrell, with his arm upon his shoulder, said he was never afraid to chop at a tree, now he is chopping at the devil trying to undermine him.

Easter Sunday, 7 a. m. Knead-drill and march in the up-town. It was a good beginning, and truly we ended well. Afternoon meeting was a powerful one, the enemy was upon us, but we rained into them, and captured TWO from its numbers. At night we had another fight and came off victorious with ONE MORE soul. We are sharpening our swords for Monday. A lively march around the barracks wound up the meeting.—F. M., Special Correspondent.

3.

CHESLEY.—Since last report we have had a farewell meeting, also a welcome meeting of our new Captain, but best of all, we have had THREE SOULS in the fountain. We have a big debt to fight, but we are going in for victory. There are on the upward march. Our motto is victory.—Lieutenant SMILE.

2.

CHATHAM.—Five more have sought salvation, others are coming. A mighty revival is breaking out over the town, our faith (not feeling) is rising. We have five prayer-meetings going in different places on Sunday nights before meeting in the barracks. These are doing exceedingly good. Last night, a woman whose husband was to God a week ago, got saved. A man, a backslider, when going to bed changed his mind and came about a mile to the barracks STRAIGHT TO THE PENITENT-FOUNTAIN, and of course, got saved; tobacco was his tyrant. After a mighty fight we got the soldiers of the salvation of THREE OTHERS who did not yield but who shall.

News from Newcastle and Capetown says souls are being saved. All glory to God.—S. BRADLEY.

2.

WIATON.—Though the roads have been very muddy and the weather very stormy the last two weeks, the people here turned out in crowds to our meetings at our several appointments, and best of all, TWO PRECIOUS SOULS have sought and found the Pearl of Great Price.—Captain and Mrs. Howe.

2.

MIDLAND.—The Toronto Musical Troupe around the circle this week, made things look up, both spiritually and financially. TWO SOULS in the fountain, seven enrolled. A Sergeant-Major commissioned; $38.75 collection.—Captain F. McKENZIE.

2.

BRANTFORD.—We bade adieu to Ensign and her sister, and welcomed to our midst Captain S. Higgins, who has taken well in hand for a great revival. TWO SOULS have sought the Lord, and are doing well. Five or six others have asked for our prayers. This week-end we had in our midst Ensign Cass, also Brother Mason, the secretary of the Simcoe corps, and Brother Chubb, the Collingwood worker. Grand spirit in all the meetings; much real Holy Ghost conviction. At night the Ensign gave a very solemn and impressive address on backsliding. We believe we shall yet see many wanderers reclaimed as a result of that meeting.—CHASLES STRATTON, Special Correspondent.

P.S.—You have bailed my reports down very much of late.

[See centre of page 6, Cry, April 14.—Ed.]

PART OF WINNIPEG BAND.

"Our Bob" Bailey,
H. Montclair.

John Habbirk,
Candidate E. Phillips.

6.

LINDSAY.—Grand soul-saving time here. Just had a visit from Brigadier de Barrist and Staff-Captain Jever. We had a grand day yesterday. NINE AT THE CROSS—six for salvation and three for power to work for God and souls.—M. ARNE, Ensign.

4.

Almost Home.

Our holiness and soldiers' meetings are good. Last Sunday night the officers and soldiers pushed and prayed, and after a long struggle FOUR SISTERS came to the front. Praise God! It was nice to hear them give their testimony. A proper "Welcome Home." Soldiers wept for joy. Many more were convicted. The band is doing well. One of our soldiers has been called to stand before the Judge above. His last words were "Almost home." He was happy in death.—Ensign ARNOLD.

What a lift we all got. Tuesday, HOPE BAY, a harder meeting, with no visible result.

Wednesday, PIKE BAY. Here we had the Methodist Church well filled with attentive hearers, closing with THREE VOLUNTEERS for the King's service. A beautiful work has been done here in the last few weeks.

LION'S HEAD must not be forgotten, the

2.

HALIFAX L.—On Monday night there was a change Dartmouth and city corps and Lieutenant Seeley, of led the meeting on Monday. Alex. McLean and wife, of was good, but stillly attend the storm in progress; and ONE SOUL sought the fountains were well attended on SOUL came to the Cross in Staff-Captain Howell up with us, and will leave to meet on Thursday. The work in this city, the new credit to his push and ability bless him and his wife and them a blessing. Amos CASHIN.

2.

ACADIA MINES.—We Sunday ago, Brother Hag Wick. Had good meetings convicted. Then last Sunday and Phiney, from Truro, the prayer meeting Sunday. NERS knelt at the Cross closed with a hallelujah dir for victory.—W. J. CHAM SABINE.

2.

STRATFORD.—Sunday, air bombardment. The soldiers. ONE SOUL found making THREE since last God.—Lieutenant T. J. D. I hope you are well saved Lord bless you.

2.

MONCTON.—The Spirit in our midst. We have for the week. We had a MacNamara; it was a very Sunday and again on Wednesday from Ensign Blackburn RESPONDENT.

5.

VICTORIA.—The past Easter week in most numbers have risen since than FIVE PREVIOUS SOULS at our penitential-fountain, some under conviction for weeks. On Good Friday night was led by Ensign Ellis, an Fallon, Fitzpatrick, and G. choruses, and testimonies upon Calvary. At the end of the meeting, and one, we God, came out and left to battle. Our prayer is that to their work.

The meetings all day. ONE OUT FOR CLEANSE meeting.

The Easter War Cry is, "Like hot cakes," was taking two. They were all and not one could be found meeting.

The work is at present speed, and something is being for God. We are still being things. Captain Fitzpatrick, not Home and Children's She Her assistant arrived last meeting was in progress. Very friends give her a hearty HELLY.

3.

YARMOUTH.—With G. Captain Knight as visible here have waged warfare, been absent most of the time in other parts of the with us one evening after a CLARE'S HARBOR, and the news of THIRTY-THREE ing the week. We rejoice received great inspiration good work which continues course, much the Car di David Smith accompanied Harbor, and soldiers in a God has blessed several of good voices, and Captain gap of almost any size in a so those meetings have been. At the one referred to, the trouble to accommodate needs. The invitations a soul have visibly moved saw tears stealthily wiped away gone before were sung. History of a wandering mother pressed her little quite likely determining should not be here.

opportunity for the

God raise up men

we hardly had meeting! No shouting to end. God dread miles, saw at returned to Owen shall not these souls
all. "Come into Nobility ever told to help them.
God and man.—A.

people gazed at the
at night, as they roofs. No doubt re-lookers who saw in their kitchen op-their arms, followed captain with weapons.
The women had a most of the men
A blood-and-fire
a few shams above ranks. Captain his at a tree, now he trying to undermine

Kee-kill and was a good begin-Afternoon
the enemy was into them, and cap-
At night we some of victorious
We are sharpening
march around meeting.—F. M.

report we have had welcome meeting out of all, we have the fountain. We at we are going in the upward move.
tentant SHELLE.

have sought out.
A mighty revival own, our faith (not five prayer-mov-on Sunday barracks. These Last night, a to God a week
bookholder, when mind and came STRAIGHT TO THE
suns, got moved:
A mighty revival
of the salvation of
at yield but who d Captown says glory to God.—S.

roads have been very stormy the are turned out in several appoint-
VO FLECKOUS
and the Pearl of Mrs. ROWA.

Musical Troupe
k, made things and financially,
a, 1778 enrolled,
and: $35.75 col-
lez.

added to English
d to our midst
a things will VO SOULS have ing well. Five or our prayers
u midst English be secretary of the, the Collingin all the meet-conviction. At very solemn and
ing. We believe are reclaimed as FAMOUS STRIVE-reports down

April 14.—Ed.]

2.

HALIFAX I.—On Monday and Tuesday nights there was a change of officers between Dartmouth and city corps. Captain Young and Lieutenant Seeley, of Dartmouth corps, led the meeting on Monday night, and Captain Alex. McLean and wife, of No. 11, on Tuesday. The singing battle on Thursday night was good, but dimly attended, on account of the storm in progress; and on Saturday night ONE SOUL sought the Saviour. Our meetings were well attended on Sunday, and ONE SOUL came to the Cross in the night meeting. Staff-Captain Howell spent his last Sunday with us, and will leave for his new appointment on Thursday. The Lord has blessed his work in this city, the new barracks being a credit to his piety and ability. May the Lord bless him and his wife and family, and make them a blessing. Amen.—Sergeant-Major CASHIN.

2.

ACADIA MINES.—We had with us a few Sundays ago, Brother Happy Jim and Warwick. Had good meetings, and sinners were convicted. Then last Sunday, Brothers Blair and Phiney, from Truro, were with us. In the prayer meeting Sunday night, TWO SINNERS knelt at the Cross for pardon. We closed with a halloing dance, praising God for victory.—W. J. CHAMBERLAIN for Captain SANSIE.

2.

STRATFORD.—Sunday, magnificent open-air bombardment. The soldiers fought like tigers. ONE SOUL saved Christ at night, making THREE since last report. Glory to God.—Lieutenant Tr. J. DAVIDSON.

I hope you are well saved, Mr. Editor. The Lord bless you.

2.

MONCTON.—The Spirit of God is working in our midst. We have had TWO SOULS for the week. We had a visit from Ensign MacNamara; it was a very joyful time. Last Sunday and again on Wednesday, we had a visit from Ensign Blackthorn.—Sergeant CASHIN.

5.

VICTORIA.—The past has indeed been an Easter week in our midst. One of our numbers have risen considerably. We have had FIVE PREVIOUS SOULS have knelt at our penitent-form, some of whom have been under conviction for weeks past.

On Good Friday night a special meeting was led by Ensign Hill, assisted by Captain Patton, Fitzpatrick, and Gooding. The songs, choruses, and testimonies were all bearing upon Calvary. At the close, two sinners cried for mercy, and one, who had disobeyed God, came out and left the future in His hands. Our prayers do that they may be true to their words.

The meetings all day Sunday were good. ONE OUT FOR CLEANSING in the holiness meeting.

The Easter War Cry went as the saying is, "like hot cakes," many of our friends taking two. They were all sold out by Sunday, and not one could be found after the night meeting.

The work is at present going ahead at full speed, and something is being accomplished for God. We are still believing for greater things.

Captain Fitzpatrick, mother of the Rescue Home and Children's Shelter, and her assistant arrived last night while the meeting was in progress. Victoria soldiers and friends give her a hearty welcome.—ARTHUR SHELLEY.

3.

YARMOUTH.—With God as invisible, and Captain Knight as visible leader, the soldiers here have waged warfare. Ensign Gage has been absent most of the time assisting in various ways in other parts of the district. He was with us on evening after a week's fighting at CLARE'S HARBOR, and brought the cheering news of THIRTY-THREE CONVERTS during the week. We rejoiced, exulted, and received great inspiration. Tidings of the good work which continues there will, of course, reach the City direct. Lieutenant Davis Smith, accompanied Ensign from the Harbor, and assisted in a musical meeting. God has blessed several of the soldiers with good voices, and Captain Knight can fill a gap of almost any size in a musical meeting. At the one referred to, the sergeant had some trouble to accommodate the people with seats. The invitations and warnings given in song have been vividly moved the people. We saw tears steadily wiped away as the loved one was sung before we sang about, and as the mother, weaned her little one closer to her, quite likely determining that such a fate should not be hers.

The people are attentive in a testimony meeting, too. Of course, testimonies are not omitted wholly from the musical meetings—but many are honest, serious, and down of the word, yet we are thankful for the FOUR who have recently knelt at the penitent-form, and risen to declare their purpose to live for God. There has been an ENROLLMENT OF SIX.—AUXILIARY 34.

3.

WINNIPEG.—Sixty-three at knee-drill. CHALLENGER WRITERS PROVINCE. Ensign Hawling conducted formal service of Sister Kate Johnston, promoted to glory. Band played beautiful funeral marches. Deep sympathy and crowded streets. Old time open-air at C.P.E. R. depot; took 8:30 a.m. train; eighty on march, and ONE YOUNG MAN SAVED in barracks, 7 p.m. Two open-air companies at night: band skirmishing on side streets; picked up companies; ninety-five on march; 112 on platform; barracks packed, jammed full, dimes the shill; took down partition to smaller hall on side; over eleven hundred people seated. TWO MEN volunteered for salvation and got it. Battle closed 10:45 p.m. Everybody tired and happy.—F. E. S.

The Wingham band and soldiers visited Worcester, and had a happy time.—THOS. MACROBERT.

PORT ARTHUR is moving along beautifully. Ninety-four at 7 a.m. to knee-drill Sunday morning.—CONVERTS (for the past two weeks) have been COMING STEADILY, nearly every night. WAR CRY all sold out by Saturday night, and at our first concert, ELEVEN became Salvationists, and many more are preparing to follow in their footsteps. We challenge the Division to beat us in knee-drill.—Captain MILLER.

1.

ORILLIA.—Captain has been sick for a few days, but is able to be around again, praise God. Work has started on the foundation of the new barracks. We hope to have it done in a few months. Good work is still going on in the old one; many are under deep conviction. One man, who has been in trouble about his soul for some time, came and surrendered all to God in our meeting last night.—Lieutenant BERRY, for Captain HARTY.

1.

ST. JOHN I.—Mrs. Major Cooper was with us, ever Sunday. Some living, burning truths fall from her lips, and were carried by the Spirit to the hearts of the un saved. ONE SOUL got saved. Give to Jesus glory.—Captain FENNEY.

1.

PRINCE ALBERT.—We praise God for giving us the determination to fight a good fight. We may not be having visible results to cheer us, but we know that many are deeply convicted of their necessity to start for the Kingdom. The meetings continue to be well attended, and a certain section of the public are so much struck on the BIG DRUM (Calvary) that they take it out of the barracks after the meeting, and beat it down the street, for which amusement they afterwards have to pay.—T. A. M.

PORT ARTHUR.

I am not a Salvation Army Soldier, but I do read the War Cry occasionally, and I can't say I've yet felt any ill-effects from so doing. Just at present a good many here are considerably more interested in Port Arthur's spiritual welfare than any place else.

People of all classes, denominations and creeds buy the War Cry here; but the reason for it has not been determined whether it is the merits of the paper or the officer's irrepressible manner of presenting it.

The Army is doing good and many are finding that "Religion is not a creed, but an experience; not a restraint; merely, but an inspiration; not an insurance for Heaven, but a programme for the present life." Backsliders are "Coming home," drunkards and tobacco-users are throwing away their hindrances, and voices which have often been heard on our streets in profanity are now heard in testimony of a Saviour's saving and keeping power. Members of the different churches unite in the work of soul-saving, and sing their voices in prayer, praise and testimony, and frequent addresses from the platform at the meetings at the barracks. This is a cold, frozen, isolated town, but it gets red-hot in some quarters, as no person could deny if they had been at knee-drill at 7 a.m. last Sabbath and had united with the ninety-four worshippers present.—S. T. IN-TRAM-UP.

[This is the fourth appearance of Port Arthur in this week's edition, brother.—Ed.]

George, of Bowmanville.

BY THE EDITOR.

"Like an eagle caged, I pine
On this dull, unchanging shore;
Oh, give me the fading breeze,
The spray, and the tempest's roar."
"Old Rhymer."

Brother George. George is his surname. In full, John George. Short, and thick-set, and with a bonnie face, fringed all round with a beard, now white with years, is Brother John George, of Bowmanville.

It was at the knee-drill of the corps' last anniversary, that I met Brother George. The glory was streaming down upon us, when suddenly up jumped George, his dear old face beaming with the light of heaven, while tears of joy suffused his eyes, and rolled down his cheeks. The world-renowned Cornish fire was in him. The Spirit moved him. "I be happy," he shouted, and betrayed his "Cousin Jack" origin right off. He electrified me. Cornwall has sent her sons to "earth's remotest bound," and they have well-maintained her reputation; but not least among her far-travelled and useful workers in the world's great workshop has been the subject of these notes.

John George was a child of ten when he first went to sea. Think of that pure, young spirit thrust into the foul, moral atmosphere of ship-life at that tender age. Compelled to go, too, for there were eight other toddlers in the home of the Bryanite local preacher George called "father," and poverty was imperative. But George enjoyed the prospect. He would soon imitate the jolly tars he saw occasionally, and swagger down the little village street in "true blue" costume. He says, "I thought it looked a fine thing."

Let pessimists groan if they will, a boy is better off now than then, in any part of the English-speaking world. "The stone cut out without hands" (Daniel ii. 34), is surely breaking up the self-principle of the world. A boy-slave, like George was then, is a rarity now, thank God.

The Cornish boy soon forgot his mother's prayers and his father's precepts, and the inconvertible word he had heard read from the family Bible lay dormant and unproductive in memory's sealed cell. On the other hand the seeds of evil thrived right lustily. With silken skeins of sin that pleased him while they bound him he willingly suffered himself to be fastened till he lay a fettered though unconscious captive. He had the bondage of hard work, and harder masters without, and many a repent-coming to shoores his wife, but he was doubly being tighter bound in the chains of sin.

One supreme sin had in particular coiled its sinuous meshes around his very heart—it was the love of strong drink. Darning drink! The multiplier of evil! "I have gone ashore with fifty sovereigns" ($250), and in a few days spent all. Then I have had to go aboard with nothing to cover me but a shirt and a pair of old pants.

This is dear old George's testimony of those days. An outline all in black, which is best not filled in here. Who shall say what bitter tears his poor mother shed in those days when she pondered on these things! Let imagination draw aside the veil from the secret place of prayer, where that Bible Christian father knelt and offered to High Heaven his anguish and intercession for the bright sailor lad laid so low through the drink and accompanying sins.

"Bring him to me with all his light,
And tell him I love him still."

Those sighs and prayers were not forgotten.

(To be continued.)

OPENING

OF THE

Halifax Rescue Home.

ONE HUNDRED VISITORS.

ONE HUNDRED GENEROUS CITIZENS.

Singer Sewing Machine.

BY MRS. READ.

What a delightful time we spent together in that little gathering with our Eastern comrades in the Halifax Rescue Home.

It was the day of the opening, and Ensign Hartrey had provided a very nice tea, which we are sure every officer present appreciated. It was a disappointment that Brigadier and Mrs. Jacobs did not arrive in time; but in their absence, Staff-Captain Bennett, in a few appropriate words, declared the Home, in the name of God, the Commandant, and the Brigadier, opened, and hoped it would be a real haven of safety to many poor girls.

Several of the officers spoke of the goodness of a Heavenly Father in His dealings with them, and their confidence in His power to give them victory, and ultimately to bring them

Triumphantly to Heaven.

Ensign Hartrey told us how much she felt the responsibility, and that she was sure the influence of the officers' lives was going to be a great blessing to the girls who would seek help and shelter there.

Previous to the officers' tea, the doors for the first time had been thrown open, and all day visitors had been coming in and inspecting the Home; some showing practical interest by leaving or promising assistance.

For years the

Macedonian Cry

has been coming to our leaders from this seaport city, and they have been earnestly requested to do something to lift up the poor, shipwrecked mariners drifting about on the sea of impurity and vice. At last the Commandant has been able to establish the Rescue Home, and so meet this long-felt and crying need, of which there cannot be—to any thoughtful Christian or philanthropic heart—the faintest shadow of a doubt.

It was one of the pleasant circumstances connected with our journey to be just in time to participate in the opening meetings. We found Ensign Hartrey just putting the finishing touches to the Home, which is a great credit to her and those who have assisted her, and the citizens of that illustrious city. It is very tastefully furnished, and home-like in every sense of the word. Situated in a quiet and suitable locality it will soon be filled with those for whom the Saviour died, dear reader, as much as for you and I.

From Newfoundland

The inaugural meeting was held at night at No. 1 barracks. After Staff-Captain Bennett had led the preliminaries a number of visiting officers sang and spoke. Among the number, Ensign Hunter, New Glasgow; Captain Alward, of St. John's, N. F. fame; Captain Fahey, Truro; and Captain McLean. The blind brother, George Thirkson, sang pathetically,

"Weary one."

Other interesting solos were listened to attentively, namely, Captain Creighton's

"Fallen one,"

and Miss Forsyth's

"Error of thee."

The writer spoke of Reacore work generally, and Ensign Hartrey introduced her scheme for helping the work financially. The people laughed heartily when we asked for a hundred dollars, and some did not believe for so much, but we believed in the generosity of Halifax citizens, and were not disappointed. Fifty-one dollars and a Singer sewing machine were given and promised, bringing the actual amount up to ninety-six dollars ($96), and no doubt more will come in later on.

We wished dear Mrs. Booth could have been at the opening. The Halifax Mail of March 19th has an interesting article, which we next week insert.

BRANDON CARRISON.

TWO came to the Cross on Sunday. Good meetings all day.

CADET JOHN DIMMICK.

TO CANDIDATES, ETC.

Will all candidates in the Central Ontario Province whose cases are still unsettled, or soldiers applying for the work, kindly communicate with Brigadier de Barrill, 77 Ulster Street, Toronto, Ont.

A Peep Through the Saved Farmer's Kaleidoscope.

THE WISE SOW THAT GAVE A LECTURE ON TOTAL ABSTINENCE.

The Foolish Mice That Were no Wiser Than Foolish Men.

"The best laid schemes o' mice and men, Gang aft' agley."—SCOTCH.

"The foolishness of God is wiser than men."—PAUL.

A pig's horse took very sick at a hotel where the pig was stopping one day, and the hotelkeeper, claiming to be somewhat of a doctor, gave the sick horse a dose of whiskey, which he thought was the best medicine. There was a quart or two of the stuff left in a pail near the pump on the street; and in a little while an old sow came along the village street looking to see what she could get, because her bill-of-fare at home was not very appetizing or plentiful, and coming up to the pail containing the whiskey, she drank it all up. It only took a short time for the vile stuff to work upon the poor brute, and she staggered as best she could over to where there was a fine shade tree, where the lay, literally lousy drunk, until through evening, the effect of the whiskey wore off her, when she got up and walked home as best she could; but although, up to this time, she had generally made a visit to the village hotel about once every day to pick up what she could get, it was remarked that she was never seen there after getting drunk. After a while, some of the "boys" took it into their heads to try and drive or entice the old sow back again to the hotel, but it was all to no purpose, the sow's mind was made up that she would neither be coaxed or driven near that hotel where she once got drunk, and they could not take her there.

Was she not a very wise sow, comparatively speaking? Even if you make the comparison between the stupid (!) pig and wise (!) men. How many men claiming to be intelligent and wise, will go to the hotel and get drunk, and then go back again and again, until they ruin themselves, not only physically, but morally and spiritually as well. Whiskey and beer are two of the best enemies that the devil uses for the accomplishment of his hellish designs, for they ruin the body and soul of his dupes at the same operation.

We were troubled with mice in our house, so we got an ingenious trap in which the baits was exposed in such a tempting manner in such a way, that the unwary mouse in trying to get at the bait, closed the only way of getting out, and in reaching the inner chamber, he closed himself in, but left the way clear for another mouse to get into the prison. One morning we found the inner chamber was just as full as it could hold of mice, and when they were drowned and counted out, there were no less than six. Now, one would naturally think that when the mice who were at liberty would see the prisoners behind the bars, they would be careful, and go away from the place altogether. But, no, they kept crowding in until the place was full.

Now, it appeared to me that the mice in this trap were no like many men in the saloon (the devil's trap). Although one would naturally think, that when men get caught in the devil's trap, and are taken and killed, soul and body, that it would be a warning to others, but no, it seems not: men will rush on heedlessly, attracted by the bait, until the devil has them fast, and they are past all hope.

No! there is hope while life lasts, because Jesus Christ says: "Come unto Me all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest." How thankful should we be that God has raised up the Salvation Army to be so faithful in warning the people against the touching of intoxicating drinks, and it is to me one of the grandest recommendations of the Salvation Army, that it says to recruits, "Unless you can see it to be a duty and a pleasure to entirely abstain from all intoxicating drinks, you cannot 'join us.'" And, although I was brought up in one of the churches, I never saw, or was fully taught the evils of the liquor traffic, until I saw the glorious Salvation Army.

Simultaneous with the above, I was caught in one of the devil's numerous traps at any moment. Why won't you come to my Saviour now? Come while He waits to bless you. Amen.

This is Interesting!

THE SABBATH—KEEP IT HOLY.

Special Season of Prayer, Commencing To-Morrow, for Preservation of the Seventh Day.

Never More Need of Prayer That the Selfish Shall Not Rob Those Who Take of Rest.

(Clipped from the Winnipeg "Tribune.")

New York, March 31.—In accordance with the invitation issued at the last annual convention of the American Sabbath Union, the friends of Sabbath observance everywhere will observe the week, commencing to-morrow morning, as a special season of prayer throughout the world for the preservation of the Sabbath. Co-operation to this end has been given by the various state Sabbath organizations, and it is stated that the observance will be very general. The executive committee, of the American Sabbath Union, has issued a national address on the subject, from which the following is an extract:

"The remarkable awakening of public sentiment during the past year, in defence of the recognition by the nation of the Day of Rest, gives special occasion for gratitude to God, and encouragement to continued efforts for the maintenance of efforts for the observance of His holy day. Yet never was there greater need of prayer for divine help in view of the growing tendency on the part of many, who profess and call themselves Christians, to spend the hours of the Lord's day in secular pleasures and pursuits. And never was there more pressing need of prayer that the selfish competition of trade, and greed of gain, may not be permitted to rob those who earn their daily labor, of their sacred right to rest and worship."

"Don't write on that glass!" yelled a glazier at his young son, who was writing on the window pane with the glazier's diamond. "Why not?" pouted the lad. "Because you can't rub it out like a slate." Just so with sin. Nothing but the Blood of Christ can wash away sin.

A Few Questions Asked

ABOUT THE

GRACE - BEFORE - MEAT - BOX AND AUXILIARY SCHEMES.

Ting-a-ting-ting-ting.

"Hello there."

"Say, boss, can you answer in a few questions?"

"Green so, provided they're meant well."

"What do you mean by that fellow?"

"Well, some folks are inclined to be critical, you know, kind of many pointed."

"Honor bright, I'm anxious for knowledge, boss; if you give me satisfaction, perhaps—well, you won't mind a donation?"

"Oh, no; fire away."

"What's the Auxiliary League?"

"Have you been acquainted with the Army so long, and you don't know what 'the League' is? Well, it's intended for those people who, rich or moderately so, want to invest a certain portion."

"How much did you say there, young man?"

"Oh, at the least five dollars per annum; as much more as you like. Picking up where I was interrupted, these friends anxious to invest a little spare cash in the heavenly book, send Commandant H. H. Booth, Salvation Army Temple, Toronto, the amount every year as mentioned above, for him to invest in the interests of the work."

"Very good; what interest do you pay?"

"Interest, did you say? Well, how does 100 per cent. payable up in heaven, sound?"

"All right for you folks, but—"

"Well, we give weekly interest in the shape of a War Cry, sent direct to your home, or monthly a copy of All the World, the American Conqueror, or International Medical Salvationist, or Rescue Deliverer."

"Now you are descending to mother earth, I think I'll jine ye."

"Hold on; we also send you a ticket of membership, entitling owner to a welcome at any of our public meetings, and a silver badge, and Army ribbon."

"Compulsory?"

"Oh, no, entirely a matter of free will; just to show appreciation of the work we are doing."

"Any other privileges?"

"Oh, yes; chief one, help, by becoming an Auxiliary member, to relieve the Commandant in his financial pressure."

"Got many in Toronto?"

"Yes, including some notables: the late ex-Mayor Howland, one of our oldest Auxiliaries, was such in his death."

"How many have you throughout the Dominion?"

"Well, sorry to say, only 230; would like to have many of our friends in Halifax, St. John, N.B.; Montreal, Quebec, Hamilton, London, Windsor, Winnipeg, Victoria, Vancouver, and Toronto join us."

"I see, you're hankering after the residents of the big cities?"

"Yes, and no, certainly as many as we can get; you see them places are the chief ones throughout the Dominion, and in speaking to our friends in them, of course we throw out the hint to the numerous sympathizers in these vicinities."

"Well, I think I'd better send you a five."

"Hold on a minute. You've sent me a kind of a tin box round the city with a Light House and another picture on it; what's that, a new scheme?"

"This has been arranged to gather up the crumbs for the poor, unemployed, ex-prisoners, fallen girls, and forlorn children, to provide homes of refuge and shelter; we call it a Grace-Before-Meat box. We issue them to whoever will take them."

"Good; I'm interested in the submerged; send me a box. When shall I return it?"

"Oh, we'll see to that. We'll appoint a local agent to call upon you every three months, who will open the box, extract money, give you receipt, dispatch cash to the Commandant, and call upon you three months afterwards. The next collection of boxes, issued after the 1st of March, 1894, takes place in July."

"That's supposing I put anything in this identical little box?"

"Well, all who take them agree not to put any less in than two cents per week; that won't break you; also to introduce to friends, acquaintances, and business people calling at the house."

"When did you start this scheme?"

"Last fall; we now have 6,000 boxes distributed throughout the length and breadth of the land; will soon run out of the seventh month."

"Then, you must have had one collection. How did you get on? Are there a success?"

"Success? Well, fair. You see, we only had about a thousand to call in in January last, that realized over $300."

"Capital; that cheered the Commandant and the Financial Secretary?"

"I should say so, but I guess we'll run away from that. The second collection is going on now. All collectors are actively employed, and if any box-holder is missed, we only have to drop a card to us."

"Who can be a local agent?"

"Any local officer, soldier, bandman, or bandwoman, soldier, Auxiliary."

"Oh, I see; if I send my five for Auxiliary membership, seeing there is no corps where I live, I can be a local agent?"

"Certainly, more the merrier."

"Well, I'll drop a post card about it. I see how I'm fixed for time to devote to it."

"Any more questions?"

"I guess I'll ring off now."

"Say, are you getting on well in your soul?"

"Hallelujah, yes. I've got wonderfully helped in the Salvation Army and Mrs. Booth's Friday evening holiness meetings. Are they thinking of keeping them on?"

"Yes, every Friday unless further notice."

"Good-bye; praise the Lord. Goodnight; the Lord bless you."

F. T. M.

Stray Thoughts and Sayings

COLLECTED BY J. H. HERRICK.

That there are far too many failures among the people kneeling at our penitent forms, I believe, a fact that has to be acknowledged by all, no matter how deeply it may be regretted. For this state of affairs there must be reasons. I am persuaded I have discovered some of them.

—//—

In the first place, the power that is exerted to bring people to the penitent form has a lot to do with the result of such coming. For instance, if an officer or soldier appeals to the natural feelings of some persons by talking to them of a dead mother, sister, or other loved one who has departed, it might be as easy matter to arouse such a remembrance of that friend, and to create such a yearning desire to see him or her, that the person could readily be persuaded to come to the penitent form. Now, in a case of that kind it would merely be the natural love that was used to draw, and as time is a great healer, it would surely follow that the grief would pass off, and with it the resolution to meet the departed ones if there were no stronger purpose to back it up.

—//—

Then, again, if a person is in a jolly, lively mood, where all the soldiers are happy and rejoicing, and there is a lot of talk about joy, peace, and so on, it would only be natural for that person to covet such a blessed experience, and as a result the work of getting him to the penitent form to seek the joy, etc., might be an easy task. Here the power used, however, is the desire for joy, and the object sought is the fruit of righteousness, and not the Spirit of Christ.

—//—

In other cases it might be the personal benefit to be derived from serving God, at the fear of death, or for the sake of some earthly advantage. There must be a deep conviction of the sinfulness of the heart and life, a humble and contrite confession of such sinfulness, and a real sorrow such as will lead to an entire forsaking of every known sin, and an unconditional surrender of the soul, body, and spirit to the will of God.

—//—

One thing is certain, and that is, when a person seeks God it must be in a whole-hearted manner. There must be a deep conviction of the sinfulness of the heart and life, a humble and contrite confession of such sinfulness, and a real sorrow such as will lead to an entire forsaking of every known sin, and an unconditional surrender of the soul, body, and spirit to the will of God.

—//—

If a man seeks God, as the Pharisee did, thanking Him that he is not as other men are, the result will be that God will not see him. A man cannot seek God, and at the same time shake hands with himself, and his own sinfulness. The spirit of the penitent must be the power that causes the seeking, and the prayer of the penitent, "God be merciful to me a sinner," must be the plea for mercy.

—//—

The case of a man I heard of illustrates another false motive in coming to God. The fellow had come to the penitent form, professed conversion, went sailing with Wm. Gay, and apparently became an out-and-out soldier. Shortly after this, although middle-aged and married, he commenced talking about going to the work, and upon being questioned, he gave his reasons as follows: "You see it says in the Bible that if a man leaves father, mother, wife, lands, etc., for the sake of the Gospel, he shall have in this world no husband, and so on." Now, I do not think any sensible man would wish the promise increased as far as the wife was concerned, especially if the wife is like the one the man had, nor do I think he meant that either, but he was too lazy to work, and he evidently thought going into the work was the best investment he could ever strike. He had hardly said this fellow failed to make his money, work, and that he also ceased to be a soldier when he failed.

—//—

To find salvation, a person must be brought out by the convicting power of the Spirit of God; he must come with the pure motive of being saved from sin, in order that he may glorify God in his life afterwards, and help to bring souls to Christ; he must make a complete confession of his sinful ways, and truly forsake them all. "If I regard iniquity in my heart, the Lord will not hear me." "Bring forth therefore, works meet for repentance." If the seeking for salvation will serve, he must make the heart of the seeker, and I am convinced the reason of many fail is that they seek amice. "Repent therefore, and be converted."

A Run to the I

After a roasting tour stopping here and there Brampton was the first town Brampton met us and Captain Atwell at the town was thrown account of the murder House.

We were there, howe of the murder of souls, pardon through repentance Brampton has a man who knows what's best faith! Keep your be there never was a place save.

We were joined by E Imperial City fame, I march down Main street the stockholders, and the Then round went Sta stores and brought in a There was a big pig hares going on at the I number of people came Lieutenant Pollard is in full time.

On, if we only had COULD WE NOT DO?

SHELBURNE is a the ing a nice little corps. Lieutenant Legge, a seri air at night was a seri hardiments.

A fine crowd filled th two souls sought salva

Off next morning to Captain Green, of Fava brought us to the ho where we found Capt though not very strong, vival services in a little ting souls saved.

Six or seven miles eighty-seven souls all to who, at night, gave us

Captain Green is a a and has things well in Corps is on a good, no most come as if the wh GETTING SAVED.

After a good open-air ing with a full house, the bold. Staff-Captain "Grumblers," accompan went with a grand aviar thick and fast from a h blood and fire soldiers.

With Flery

Staff-Captain Jewer rec the Cross. Almost ever prayer meeting. We h before closing.

Shortly afterwards, load of cats, and about arrived at the home of Ginnelston. Although a corps, there are faithf good brother's farm, we him, and then loaded up COLLINGWOOD, our I the trip. Here we found of faith, and longing powers of darkness.

The Brigadier had, wi treating talk with a mus camp for a season. Ho from the nearest station gious service. It was earth, and preachers w seemed if they would of nothing to do at night-time. One man walki tenth pulled. They h sixty-five men, for Br preacher all the time.

In front of the town I in the open-air, started when round turned an

"Now, Billy, rememb to 'em once."

This would be so acce The inside meeting w Collingwood has some w

In the meeting a poe Brigadier, "I am going hour as soon as this moon

This man is one of the drink in the place, and I possible for him to get d this way.

Knee-drill found a pr and such was the blas meeting that at the close for salvation and parity.

In the morning and since were dealt with all that kept them from of God.

The afternoon open-air in front of an hotel, to brize down, the pure unwar was spoken.

The Brigadier went to Captain McKee, who is of Rest. He came from Collingwood.

Finding two unsave prayer meeting, the Brig fully and earnestly wit them NOT SAVED.

The "Retreat,"
THE SALVATION ARMY
WORKING-WOMEN'S HOME,
NOW OPEN,
14 Albert Street, East side Temple.

GOOD FOOD and CLEAN, WARM BEDS

AT THE FOLLOWING PRICES:

Soup	2 cents.
Soup and Bread ..	3 "
Irish Stew ..	5 "
Tea or Coffee, per cup,	2 "
Bread and Butter ..	2 "
Warm Beds ..	7 "

Broommaking, Plain Sewing and Knitting done at Reasonable Prices.

A SPLENDID FIRE COAL AND WOOD

bought at our woodyard. TELEPHONE 751 or 1444, corner of Wilton Avenue and Victoria.
Kindling, 7 Cords $1.00. Coal—Current price. Branch office—Lippincott and Ulster.

AUTOHARPS.

The demand for this beautiful instrument is daily increasing. We have repeated enquiries about them. In order to supply our Officers quickly and cheaply, we have made arrangements with the manufacturers, and are now selling autoharps at the following rates:

No.	1-21 strings, 8 bars, producing 8 chords.	PRICE
" 1-21 "	" 8 "	4.00
" 21-25 "	" 12 "	5.00
" 25-29 "	" 16 "	6.00
" 29-33 "	" 20 "	7.00
" 33-37 "	" 24 "	8.00
" 37-41 "	" 28 "	9.00
" 41-45 "	" 32 "	10.00
" 45-49 "	" 36 "	11.00
" 49-53 "	" 40 "	12.00
" 53-57 "	" 44 "	13.00
" 57-61 "	" 48 "	14.00
" 61-65 "	" 52 "	15.00
" 65-69 "	" 56 "	16.00
" 69-73 "	" 60 "	17.00
" 73-77 "	" 64 "	18.00
" 77-81 "	" 68 "	19.00
" 81-85 "	" 72 "	20.00
" 85-89 "	" 76 "	21.00
" 89-93 "	" 80 "	22.00
" 93-97 "	" 84 "	23.00
" 97-101 "	" 88 "	24.00
" 101-105 "	" 92 "	25.00
" 105-109 "	" 96 "	26.00
" 109-113 "	" 100 "	27.00

DRESSMAKING DEPARTMENT.

You Should Wear Regulation Uniform!

The way to get it is to write to the Trade
Secretary for samples of Dress Goods and Self-Measurement Forms, and order at once.
Great variety in Serges and Cashmeres.
Try Headquarters!

The June Congress

Will soon be here, and you have not ordered your Dress yet! Think of it! Time is passing. Send for Samples and Self-Measurement Forms, at once, to the Trade Secretary.

HAVE YOU READ

"Perfect Love,"

By REV. J. A. WOOD?

It is the book you should read. You can obtain it from the Trade Secretary at $1.00 per copy.

Order Your TRIMMED BUNNET Early

To get it in time. Now is the rush.
All Prices.

Friends of the Social Wing.

ATTENTION!

Our Branch Coal and Wood
Office is now open, corner of Lippincott and Ulster Streets.
The officer in charge, is prepared to give prompt and careful attention to all orders.
This will be a means of great assistance to the Social Work.

WESTWARD HO! THE COMMANDANT —AND— Brigadier Holland ON THE WING! INSTALLATION

Major and Mrs. Read, P. S., AT WINNIPEG.

MEETINGS AS FOLLOWS:

BRANDON - Friday - April 20
WINNIPEG - Saturday and Sunday, April 21 and 22

On account of the inability of the Commandant to call off at every place,

RAILWAY STATION MEETINGS

will be held at the following places:

SATURDAY,	April 21.—12.33 p.m.	CARBERRY
"	" 21.—2.25 p.m.	PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE
TUESDAY,	" 24.—1.25 p.m.	FORT WILLIAM
"	" 24.—3.15 p.m.	PORT ARTHUR

Mrs. Booth

WILL CONDUCT THE

ANNIVERSARY SERVICES

— AT —

OSHAWA, Monday, April 30th,

— AND —

LISCAR STREET, May 9th.

All Headquarters and Provincial, Social and Rescue Staff present at Liscar Street. Temple, Lippincott, Bevercourt, Richmond St., and the Yorkville Corps will also be present.

SPECIAL HOLINESS CAMPAIGN!

A CONVENTION ON REAL RELIGION

WILL BE HELD IN THE

Y. W. C. A. Hall, on Elm Street, Toronto,

ON THE EVENING OF

EVERY FRIDAY, until further notice,

Commencing at 8 o'clock.

MRS. BOOTH,

ASSISTED AS FAR AS POSSIBLE BY

Brigadier Mrs. Holland, Brigadier and Mrs. de Barritt, and MAJOR COMPLIN,

Staff-Captains FRIEDRICH, FRY, STREETON and JEWER, Headquarters and Social Staff, Officers and Soldiers of the Temple and Yorkville Corps and numbers of other Christians, Auxiliaries and Friends especially invited.

Central Ontario Province. BRIGADIER De BARRITT'S

—AND— STAFF-CAPTAIN JEWER'S APPOINTMENTS

are as follows:
RICHMOND STREET, Saturday, Sunday and Monday, April 21st, 22nd and 23rd.
BRAMPTON, Tuesday, April 24th.
RICHMOND STREET, Thursday, April 26th.
OSHAWA, Saturday, Sunday and Monday,
April 28th, 29th and 30th.
LIPPINCOTT, Tuesday, May 1st, Soldier's Council (all city soldiers). The hour to 7, meeting at 7:30.
LISCAR STREET, Sunday, Monday and Wednesday, May 6th, 7th and 8th (anniversary).
BARRIE, Queen's Birthday, (Mrs. de Barritt and Staff).
TORONTO, Queen's Birthday, (Staff-Captain Jewer).
HAMILTON, Queen's Birthday, (Brigadier de Barritt and Staff).
Brigadier de Barritt will visit Uxbridge
District corps in May.

The Musical Troupe

WILL VISIT THE FOLLOWING

CORPS:

ORANGEVILLE, Saturday, Sunday and Monday, April 21, 22 and 23.
BRAMPTON, Tuesday and Wednesday,
April 24th and 25th.
RICHMOND STREET, Thursday, April
26, to Monday, April 30.

EAST ONTARIO PROVINCE

Provincial Appointments

AS FOLLOWS:

ODESSA: Saturday and Sunday, April 21 and 22—
Special Meetings, Staff-Captain Sharp and Lieutenant Morris.
DESERONTU: Saturday, April 29.—Brigadier Scott,
Staff-Captain Sharp, and Lieutenant Morris.
Sunday, April 29.—Special Meetings.
Piston Band expected.
NAPANEE: Saturday, May 5.—Brigadier Scott, Staff-
Captain Sharp, and Lieutenant Morris.
Sunday, May 6.—Special Salvation Meetings. Brass Band expected.

WEST ONTARIO PROVINCE

Brigadier Margetta's Welcome Tour.

STRATFORD, Friday, April 30th.
SEAFORTH, Saturday, Sunday and Monday, April 21st, 22nd and 23rd.
GODERICH, Tuesday, April 24th.
CLINTON, Wednesday, April 25th.
STRATHROY, Friday, April 27th.
PETROLEA, Saturday, Sunday and Monday, April 28th, 29th and 30th.
DRESDEN, Tuesday, May 1st.
PALMERSTON, Saturday, Sunday and Monday, May 5th, 6th and 7th.
DRATON, Tuesday, May 8th.
LISTOWELL, Wednesday, May 9th.

TORONTO, ATTENTION! PLEASE.

3 P. M., EVERY FRIDAY, IN BASEMENT OF TEMPLE, ALBERT STREET.

Holiness Meeting

CONDUCTED BY

MRS. BRIGADIER De BARRITT.

Every Salvation Army Soldier and Friend is earnestly invited to attend any or all these meetings.

EASTER WAR CRY.

If you did not get the Easter War Cry and Supplement because the Captain had sold out, ask him to send to the Trade Secretary for some more. We supply all orders by return mail as long as the stock will last.

W

AND OFFICIAL

VOL. X. No. 30. [Continued]

A

BY MAJOR R